THE SURPLUS AGAIN.

An Important Decision by Randall's Committee.

TO REPEAL THE TOBACCO TAX

Report of the House Committee on Ways and Means

THEY WILL REPORT ANOTHER BILL

[illegible] Will Propose a Reduction of About Seventy Million Dollars—Mills Offers a Resolution in the House

WASHINGTON, [illegible].—By a vote of 9 to [illegible] the house committee on appropriations today [illegible] to report favorably the substitute for Cowles's internal revenue bill. The substitute [illegible] the entire repeal of the tobacco tax, and [illegible] the moonshine sections of the Cowles bill.

It was learned later that the vote on reporting the measure was 10 to [illegible] instead of 9 to [illegible] as at first reported. Those in favor of the measure were Randall, Clements, Felix Campbell of New York, Cannon, Ryan, Butterworth, Long, McComas and Henderson. Those opposed to it were Forney, Foran, Sayres and Rice.

Forney says he will report a substitute bill removing the duty on manufactured tobacco and snuff but not on cigars and cheroots.

Representative Sayres said he intended to prepare a minority report [illegible]. He said: "I am opposed to reducing the surplus by taking off the tax on cigars, cheroots and cigarettes until we have first reduced the customs duty on the necessaries of life."

As there appears to be some difference of opinion as to the measure of privilege which the revenue bill will possess, which may later bring on a conflict on the floor of the house between the ways and means and appropriation committees, it may be well to state the position of the last named committee in the matter. While it does not contend that any committee other than that of the ways and means is privileged to report a revenue bill at any time, it holds that under the rules when a bill is once reported and placed [illegible] the calendar it will of itself be a matter of privilege and that a motion may at any time be made to go into committee of the whole to consider revenue bills. To succeed in getting at the tobacco bill it would be necessary for the house to lay aside any revenue bill preceding it on the calendar, and if the ways and means committee should anticipate the report of the committee on appropriations by reporting another tariff bill this might prove a serious but not necessarily insurmountable obstacle to the accomplishment of the wishes of the friends of the bill to repeal the tobacco tax.

The formal action of the appropriations committee upon Cowles's bill was to strike out sections [illegible] and substitute sections [illegible] of Randall's tariff bill introduced at the last session, and also [illegible] strike out sections six, nine, ten, eleven, twelve and sixteen of Cowles's bill.

In the shape in which it will be reported the bill provides that after July 1 next all laws now in force whereby farmers and producers of tobacco are restricted in the sale of the same, and all laws relating to the internal revenue tax on manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars, cheroots and cigarettes and special taxes required by law to be paid by the manufacturers and dealers in leaf tobacco, retail dealers in manufactured tobacco, peddlers of tobacco, snuff and cigars and manufacturers of snuff and cigars shall be repealed.

It is provided, also, that a drawback equal to the tax shall be paid on unbroken factory packages in the hands of manufacturers and dealers when the law takes effect. The redemption at a pro rata valuation of [illegible] tax stamps is provided for.

The act [illegible] provides that all internal [illegible] pealed July 1 [illegible] all [illegible] export [illegible] or after that date. A provision [illegible] that all laws now in force shall remain and have full force and effect [illegible] all offenses committed [illegible] the date [illegible] the tax shall take effect.

Another section provides for [illegible] minimum punishment [illegible] violations of the internal revenue laws [illegible] leave [illegible] the court [illegible] any fine or punishment within the maximum. It is also provided that warrants for arrest shall be returnable before a competent judicial officer of the nearest place of arrest, who shall have exclusive authority to make a preliminary examination, bail [illegible] charge or commit the prisoner, excluding the Indian territory. The United States courts are also given authority to appoint commissioners wherever necessary.

The remaining sections forbid the destruction or mutilation of seized distilling apparatus and [illegible] at the [illegible] United States judges to make proper orders for the comfort of persons whose [illegible] health is endangered by close confinement. [illegible] provision is made for the abolition of all offices for the collection of revenue which are cut off in the bill.

A REDUCTION OF $70,000,000

The Answer of the Ways and Means Committee to the Senate Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. [illegible].—The ways and means committee this morning practically decided to report a tariff bill making an estimated reduction in the revenue of about $[illegible]0,000,000.

The free list in the bill is almost identical with that of the Mills bill.

The report of the committee referring to the bill of the senate finance committee says in part:

The policy of the parties represented by the finance committee is the policy of restriction not only against the importation of products but against the distribution of wealth among the masses by permitting them to buy where they can buy cheapest and sell where they can sell highest. It is restriction against the employment of labor and restriction against the demand for employment and better wages.

It is contended by them that if we exclude foreign imports our own manufacturers and their workmen will supply them and that that will give employment to our own people.

The report adduces figures and statistics of the operation of the tariff law in past years to meet the senate contention, and declares that those years which showed decreasing importations were among the darkest in our industrial history.

It is contended that reduced duties mean large importations and that increased importations mean increased prosperity; that 90 per cent of the goods consumed in the United States are produced at a lower cost than in foreign countries, which is a sufficient answer to the scarecrow that free importation would result in ruining our industries and labor. It is said that the reduction in rates will increase the importation of the articles now imported, constituting less than 5 per cent. of the consumption, but that it would not bring to this country any of the articles now produced at home, because they can be and are produced and sold here cheaper than they can be produced abroad, and imported, and sold here in competition with our own. The lowering of duties will not increase the importations of any of the articles which we manufacture at home, but it will lower the prices of these articles to consumers.

The committee says: "The policy defined and declared by the finance committee is destructive of all American industry except that of building up the privileged classes, who are to be enriched and kept so by the prostitution of the taxing power of the government."

The report says that there is good reason why the sugar county provision of the senate bill should be adopted, and concludes with the statement that there will really be no reduction in the customs revenue under the provisions of the senate substitutes.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS

Mills Raises an Objection—The Territorial Admission Bill—Etc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—In the house the committee on ways and means reported back the Mills tariff bill, with senate amendments, referred to committee of the whole.

Mills also reported the following resolution, which he said presented a question of privilege, and the consideration of which he would ask the house to enter upon Tuesday:

Resolved, That the substitution by the senate, under the form of an amendment, for the bill of the house, No. 9051, (the Mills bill) of another and different bill containing a general revision of the laws imposing import duties and internal taxes, is in conflict with the true intent and purpose of section 7 of article 1 of the constitution, and that said bill be returned to the senate, with the respectful suggestion that said section invests in the house of representatives the sole power to originate such a measure.

McKinley said the constitutional objection raised by the majority of the committee to the reduction of the revenue had been called to the attention of the committee only this morning. He therefore reserved to the minority the right to file their views.

Reed, of Maine, reserved a point of order against the resolution.

The committee on foreign affairs reported back the senate bill appropriating $250,000 to enable the president to protect the interest of the United States in Panama.

McCreary, of Kentucky, urged the necessity of making an appropriation to relieve 4000 or 5000 American citizens on the Panama canal who are in a destitute condition. Before any action was taken the bill was laid aside temporarily to enable the house [illegible] to consider the resolution [illegible] the house conferees on the territorial bill [illegible] the method they should pursue in [illegible].

[illegible] pending motion [illegible] the motion to [illegible] by which the house agreed to that portion of the resolution directing the conferees to [illegible] the bill as to provide for the admission of South Dakota [illegible] the Sioux Falls constitution [illegible] proclamation of the president without [illegible] vote on division. The motion prevailed, 116 to 113.

[illegible] instructions relative to the admission of North Dakota, Montana and Washington by proclamation were agreed to without division, and the bill was again sent to conference after the adoption of a preliminary instructing clause, 149 to 101.

The house then passed the senate bill appropriating $250,000 for the protection of American interests in Panama.

The senate amendments to the fortification appropriation bill were non-concurred in.

The house ordered the pension appropriation bill also sent to conference.

Browne, of Indiana, called up the senate bill granting a [illegible] of $100 a month, with the [illegible] the rate to $75 [illegible] widow of Brigadier-General Joseph B. Plummer. The amendment was agreed to and the bill passed.

The senate bill passed granting a pension of $50 a month to the widow of Rear Admiral Nicholson.

On motion of Blount, of Georgia, and despite [illegible] objections, the call of the committees for reports was dispensed with and the house went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill.

The pending amendment offered by Cannon increasing by $250,000 the appropriation for clerks in the postoffices was discussed for some time. There was a majority in favor of the amendment but Blount raised a point of no quorum and the committee rose.

A bill was passed for the payment of the Fourth of July claims. The amount involved is $30,000.

The house then took a recess, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session of the house Bingham (Pa.) called up the senate bill granting a pension to Irene Rucker Sheridan, but seeing that it would be impossible to get a vote on account of the objections raised withdrew it. The house then passed thirty-three private pension bills and adjourned.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Forty-One Pension Bills Passed in Twelve Minutes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. [illegible].—The senate bill to confirm the agreement with the Muscogee (or Creek) Indians in Indian territory, opening to settlement the unassigned lands in the Indian territory, the consideration being $2,280,[illegible], was taken from the calendar and passed.

Ransom gave notice that he would tomorrow move to take up the house bill to establish a United States court and to provide for a judicial investigation and settlement of private land claims in New Mexico and Colorado, and would renew the motion every day until a vote on the passage of the bill was reached.

Among the bills taken from the calendar and passed was the senate bill authorizing the president to place General Walter [illegible] on the retired list as brigadier-general of the regular army.

The senate then took up the pension bills on the calendar and passed all of them, forty-one in number, accomplishing the task in twelve minutes.

The house bill authorizing the president to appoint Wm. English second lieutenant in the regular army was taken from the calendar and explained and advocated by Daniel, who claimed that the sentence of the court martial under which English was cashiered was unduly severe, and that a reprimand would have been quite sufficient. The bill was passed with an amendment authorizing the president to nominate him by and with the consent of the senate.

The Texas outrage resolution was again taken up and Senator Coke resumed his speech without finishing.

Coke yielded the floor to [illegible] who offered resolutions expressive of the sorrow of the senate on the death of the late Representative Robertson [illegible].

[illegible]

ENDICOTT'S EXPLANATION

Elaborate Reasons for the Confidential Order of General Benét.

WASHINGTON, Feb. [illegible].—The secretary of war today transmitted to the senate his response to the resolution calling for information relative to the issuing of the confidential order of January 1, 1886, by General Benét, chief of ordnance, instructing commanding officers of the national armories and arsenals to favor the democrats, other things being equal, in appointments and discharges from service, the object, as stated in the order, being to divide the force gradually between republicans and democrats.

Secretary Endicott says that during the year 1885 there were numerous applications made to him on behalf of mechanics, artisans and others for employment in arsenals and armories, and that it is well understood that these appointments do not fall within the provisions of the civil service [illegible].

These applications for employment the secretary says [illegible] from such employment [illegible].

His reply to such applications was that [illegible] if the applicants were competent to perform the work required and otherwise qualified, and their services needed, they would be received. This decision was strictly adhered to.

In a conversation with the chief of ordnance the secretary suggested that, as the majority of places in the armories and arsenals were held by republicans, in making changes the preference should be given to democrats until the numbers were substantially divided between the two political parties. The chief of ordnance approved the suggestions and issued the order mentioned in the resolution.

The secretary says that he did not see the order itself until two or three months after it was issued, but that it was not intended to include the discharge of workmen on account of political opinions, and was not so construed by the officers to whom it was addressed.

No removals, the secretary continued, have been made on account of the order, and at the Springfield armory in Massachusetts, the largest of all the armories, there have been only sixty-four changes of permanent workmen since January, 1886, in a force of about 450 men.

The secretary says that he had no desire to conceal the order, and does not know why it was marked confidential. He says that no measures have been taken by the war department to learn the political opinions of the women and children in its employment, and that General Benét stated that the circular was made applicable to them because it had been found by long experience that disputes over politics were as prevalent among this class as among their husbands and fathers.

THE HALF BREED DIFFICULTIES.

Governor Church Telegraphs the Secretary of the Interior Concerning Them.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Governor Church, of Dakota, today telegraphed the secretary of the interior that he had been informed that there was danger of an outbreak among the half breed Indians in Bartlett county. A white military company at St. Johns has been ordered out by the sheriff. Governor Church states that he is informed by the commanding officer of the militia of the company that the sheriff had no authority to order out his company. He advises him that he and his men are held responsible for any unlawful act. Secretary Vilas telegraphed the governor approving his course. The war department has been requested to instruct the military to prevent an outbreak.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

For the Material To Be Used in the New Monitor Monadnoc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The secretary of the navy has let some important contracts for the material required in the construction and repair of the double turreted monitor Monadnoc, now building at the Mare Island navy yard. In the schedule formulated there are forty-five distinct classes, and it is one of the largest awards made this year by the navy department.

The bidders from the Pacific coast were very fortunate, although closely pressed by their Eastern rivals. Inasmuch as the Pacific slope has no steel plant, no bids for the construction of the steel plate necessary was put in from that locality, and the contract was awarded to Eastern firms. One hundred and one thousand dollars in the contracts for the ship will be distributed on the Pacific coast, the Union Iron Works some weeks ago securing the contract for the boiler plating required in the ship.

Under the award made today the successful contractors are to deliver the goods within sixty days after the award of the contract, unless required earlier with a notice of twenty days.

So the Measure Will Be Returned to the House This Morning

NORTHUP'S PILOTAGE BILL PASSED

It Also is Ready for Action by the Governor—House Passes a Number of Pet Measures, and Rejects a Few

SALEM, Feb. 15.—Governor Pennoyer has been given another opportunity to stand between Portland's 60,000 people and pure drinking water. The Bull Run water bill which was passed in the house last night came up in the senate at 11:10 o'clock and was passed by the handsome vote of yeas 22, nays 6.

When the bill was brought up in the shape of a message from the house Carson moved to suspend the rules and read the bill the first time by title.

"I insist on the regular order of business," broke in Eakin, objecting to this course of procedure.

"This is a matter of great importance, and unless passed at once it will not stand much chance. This is the Portland water bill. It is of vital importance to the people of Portland and I hope the senate will indulge me."

"There is no danger of the loss of this bill," said Eakin. "It will be reached in proper time."

Cries of "Question, question," greeted the chair, and the senate by a vote of 22 to 4 granted Senator Carson the favor he asked. By the same vote the rules were suspended to read the bill the second time by title, and Senator Carson then asked to have the bill read the third time and placed upon its final passage.

This brought Tongue to the floor.

"I shall have to object to this course," said he. "It is giving precedence to this bill over many important senate and house bills which are higher up on the calendar. We have agreed to read it twice by title, and that is all the senator (Carson) should ask. I cannot conceive that this bill is of such great importance that it should take precedence over all other bills. I understand that the bill to consolidate Portland, East Portland and Albina, which has already passed the house, embodies this water bill, only in the consolidation bill the bonds are taxable. This water bill has been voted on in this senate, has had many favors extended to it, has been vetoed by the governor, and the veto has been sustained in the house. It [illegible] about as it was before and is not of such great importance that it should be rushed through the senate."

"The consolidation bill will probably not pass with these provisions in it. We hope that the bill will be acted upon at once, so that if it is [illegible] by the governor we may have an opportunity to pass it over the veto. The session is rapidly drawing to a close and there is no time to lose."

"Do I understand the senator to say that it is not the intention to pass the consolidation bill?" asked Tongue.

Cries of "Question" ended the discussion, and the senate, by a vote of 2[illegible] to 5, granted Senator Carson's request to have the bill read the third time.

Sinclair then moved the previous question, which was put, and the bill passed by the following vote:

AYES.

Barin	Hamilton	Sinclair
Carson	Hirsch	Stanley
Cathcart	Holt	Steel
[illegible]	Mackay	Wait
Cogswell	[illegible]	Watkins
Eakin	Norval	Watts
Fullerton	Raley	Mr. President—22
[illegible]

NAYS.

Dawson	[illegible]	Veatch
Dimick	Tongue	Wager—6.

Absent—Chamberlin and Irvine—2.

Tongue subsequently apologized for his objection to bringing the bill up for reading by title. He said he read in THE OREGONIAN, which had just arrived, that the water bill would be rushed through the senate, so he thought some explanation was necessary.

Governor Pennoyer told an OREGONIAN reporter this afternoon that he would veto the bill and return it tomorrow to the house.

"My veto will not be an elaborate one," said his excellency. "I will make it very short and shall not attempt to rehash the argument set forth in my first veto. This matter is very embarrassing to me, and the sooner it is out of the way the better I shall be satisfied."

The Multnomah delegation is confident of the passage of the bill over the veto in the house, and the senate will [illegible] the veto. One of the opponents of the bill, a valley representative who voted to sustain the veto, made a canvass today and said he found forty-one members [illegible] the veto.

Representative Northup's pilotage bill, which has created so much comment of late, came up in the senate on special order this afternoon, and passed by the splendid vote of yeas 24, nays 3. Gray, Veatch and Watkins voted against the bill, and Chamberlin, Fullerton and Irvine were absent. The amendments proposed by Wager to strike out sections one, four, nine and twelve, relating to the appointment of a commission on the qualifications of pilots, entitling the pilot who first speaks a vessel to compensation, and also to the clause repealing other pilotage laws, were withdrawn by him, and his other amendment, to make the party at fault, instead of the state, responsible for the costs of an investigation of a complaint, was withdrawn.

The amendments by Fullerton fixing bar rates at $[illegible] a foot draft and 3 cents a ton for all above [illegible]00 tons, and by Moore making river rates between Astoria and Portland 2 cents a ton for all above 500 tons, were withdrawn.

Gray said the Astoria men whom he had summoned to Salem had failed to get his telegram in time to catch the boat. He said he favored a reduction in rates.

Watts protested against reference of the bill to a committee, holding it would be of no avail, as a committee could do nothing but obey instructions, and not hear what the Astoria people had to say.

Gray read a printed address in opposition to the bill, commenting at the same time on the arguments made by its supporters. He set forth that Washington territory pilots are strong rivals for the business of the Columbia, and set forth that if the number of vessels arriving this year equals that of last year the total amount to be received by Oregon pilots will be $6600, and in accordance with the terms of his bill the amount would be $10,800, a difference of $4000, which added to the reduction of $2000 on river pilotage makes a total reduction of $6000. This, he said, was the key to the whole situation, and represented the financial difference between the control of the pilots by the state and the control of the matter by the O. R. & N. Co. The bar and river pilotage, according to Northup's bill, he said, would be $204; according to his bill $317, a difference of $113 in favor of Northup's. Gray further set forth that the passage of the bill will allow the tug company which controls the pilotage to exact a tax of 20 cents per thousand on 66,000,000 feet of manufactured lumber, or in other words, it proposes to discriminate against Clatsop county and make its people pay an excess of $1900 over and above the difference of the proposed pilotage. Gray concluded by saying that the O. R. & N. Co. makes $123,000 annually in transporting wheat for shipment abroad, and by saving $6000 on pilotage makes a clear profit of $117,000.

Watts favored the bill in a short speech, and announced in conclusion that if anyone was disposed to take up the bill correcting the abuses of seamen he was in a good humor to clean out pilotage boarding houses and all.

Moore explained that his opposition to the bill grew out of his friendship for pilots and a fear that the pilot schooner would not be maintained after the company takes charge of the service.

Wait spoke briefly in favor of the bill.

Cauthorn, in voting, read the following brief address, evidently intended as a burlesque on Gray's speech. Cauthorn says it was an effort in behalf of Yaquina bay:

"I represent a constituency that are not immediately interested in this measure. We live in that fortunate land, the warm heart of the beautiful Willamette, where our products go upon the outflowing tide to the bosom of the deep blue sea, unvexed by towage charges and free from hard terms of proud and relentless pilots. [Laughter.] Nature, the providence of God and of the United States have been kind to us. Our wheat rolls from our harvest fields to the bounding ocean without suffering diminution from the exactions which it is the design of the bill to remove. But while I rejoice in our own good fortune I am ready to extend a helping hand to my less fortunate brethren. I am willing that the strong arm of the law shall be invoked in aid of those whom neither nature nor God nor the United States seems able or willing to help. [Laughter.] I am willing to reduce the charges that threaten to ruin the commerce of our metropolis. I hear the Macedonian cry and I heed its pitifulness. [Laughter.] Since you must have pilots I am in favor of compelling a fair division between them of the products of the country, that must empty its exports into the markets of the world through the devious and difficult channel of the Columbia; and here's a hand, my trusty friend, and gie us a hand of thine. Mr. President, I vote aye. [Laughter.]

"As I am assured of the passage of the bill," said Wait, "I vote no to keep my record good." [Laughter.]

At 11 o'clock this morning Armstrong again called up his assessment and taxation bill, which was yesterday sent to the engrossing committee. Clerk Holman began reading, and a few minutes later THE OREGONIAN made its appearance, and each member settled back in his chair and buried his face behind the paper. The clerk proceeded in a weary monotone with the reading of the bill until some one happened to glance up and notice that the hands of the big clock behind the speaker's chair pointed to high noon. A motion to take a recess was quickly put and carried, and the clerk put a pencil mark on the bill where he left off, right in the middle of a sentence.

As soon as the clerk had finished reading the bill in the afternoon the chair put the question, and the bill passed—34 to 20.

Gambee, who was not present last night when his name was called, called up Blundell's bill for the state weather service in connection with the U. S. signal service at Portland. Nearly every farmer on the floor of the house supported the bill and made a brief speech in its behalf. Signal Observer Pague, of Portland, who has been most persistent in his efforts for the bill, was well pleased to see it pass with over twenty votes to spare.

Geer's pet measure is a simple bill to change the law relating to the pay of district school clerks. The law, through mistake or misprint, now applies to one district, whereas it should apply to any district. Geer's bill makes this change, and passed without opposition.

Gilbert asked for his bill to amend chapter 21 of the code of criminal procedure in the case of criminal minors, which was explained to the house and quickly passed. It allows the county commissioners to appoint a county agent for the care of criminal minors and delinquents. It follows the system adopted in many states and takes the place of the reform school bill. It was drafted at the request of Rev. T. L. Eliot, of Portland, and is considered by that gentleman as a much more effective system than the establishment of a state reform school.

Gilham, at the request of Northup, called up the latter's bill to amend the act of two years ago, which authorizes the Columbia Bridge Company to construct a bridge across the Willamette, between Madison street, Portland, and Asylum street, East Portland. The original bill provided for a draw only 100 feet wide. Mr. Northup's amendment makes the draw 180 feet wide. The bill was passed.

Goodnough, in his turn, obtained the passage of the Moss bill, to regulate the salaries of county judges. The bill was introduced in order to increase the salary of the county judge of Lake county from $400 to $700. Other counties came in while the bill was pending, and the salaries of a few other county judges have been raised by small sums.

Hahn, of Clatsop, who has been earnest in his endeavors to secure legislation on the catching of fish at the mouth of the Columbia, called up Bowditch's bill to protect salmon in the Columbia river. The bill provided that all Chinook salmon weighing less than twelve pounds, all steelheads less than seven pounds and all bluebacks weighing less than four pounds caught during the months of April, May, June and July were to be immediately returned to the waters. The bill did not meet favor with a sufficient number of members and it failed to pass.

Harrington's pet measure was the Portland water bill, which went through so quickly that it is now awaiting the governor's veto.

Haskell was unfortunate in not having a chance to call up his pet measure before so many appropriations had been voted for wagon roads. His bill asked for $10,000 to aid the county court of Benton county to construct a road from Huntington to the mouth of Canyon creek. The appropriation asked for was too large, and the bill failed to pass.

Howard chose as the law which he most desired to see enacted Condon's bill to create a board of horticulture, the purposes of which have been already set forth in THE OREGONIAN and commented upon favorably. The bill was drawn up by the State Horticultural Society and placed in Mr. Condon's hands for introduction. That gentleman explained to the house the benefits to be derived from such a law.

Miller, of Jackson, spoke for the fruit-growers of the state, and said he had heard no word of opposition to this bill, except from some farmers who had orchards infested with pests, and who were afraid that in the interest of the public good their orchards might have to be cut down.

Short, who voted against the Portland water bill, said in substance that this matter had been thoroughly discussed at the Grange meetings here in Salem, and it had been decided that such a law was not wanted; therefore he would vote no.

Northup, who has a small orchard in Portland, said he could speak from experience regarding fruit pests, and said what the state needed was a board who would use the pruning knife and destroy the pests.

Bowditch said this was a question of building up or destroying one of Oregon's greatest industries.

Apperson, Derby and Maxwell argued that the bill was unnecessary, since the State Agricultural college horticulturist could do just what was provided for in this bill.

Being put to a vote the bill then failed to pass, 23 to 31.

Hume asked the house to take up and consider his bill to amend sections 392 and 806 of the code of civil procedure as compiled by Matthew P. Deady and Lafayette Lane. The bill is for the purpose of abolishing the present mode of procedure in equity suits and re-enact the law as it stood before 1885. It is favored by all lawyers and judges throughout the state, and there was no trouble in passing the bill.

Hunter, of Wallowa, called up the sheep bill of his friend and neighbor from Crook county, Mr. Williamson, which makes it unlawful to drive sheep from one county into another to pasture upon the public domain. The representatives of Gilliam, Wasco and Morrow counties strenuously opposed the passage of this bill, characterizing it as a bill to protect Crook and Grant counties alone.

Representative Teal, of Morrow, said if his county has a slice of the summer range off Grant county, he would be in favor of the bill, but as it is he was opposed to it.

Maxwell related the story of his life, which created much laughter. He said when he first came to Oregon he located in Baker county, at the foot of a mountain range. He had a nice little pasture spot for his cow, when along came a sheep man from another county, and stopped until the sheep had eaten up all the grass about his place. The next fall, when the grass had grown up green again, back came this same flock of sheep and ate the grass so short that he had to pull up stakes and go to Tillamook, where he had been living on clams ever since. He now saw a chance to get even with the man that owned those sheep by voting in favor of this bill, and he hoped every man in the house would vote for it too.

Nearly all the Western Oregon members, who were wholly disinterested, held the opinion that counties specially favored by nature with both summer and winter ranges should be protected, and the bill passed by a vote of 44 to 12.

Jennings, who has assessment and taxation on the brain, called up his bill providing the manner of collecting taxes. His idea was to have the sheriff advertise that taxes were due, and if not then paid by a certain day, 1 per cent. per month was to be added thereafter until paid. Some one called his attention to the fact that the house could not consistently pass this bill, as it would be in direct conflict with a long assessment and taxation bill passed less than an hour before. He then withdrew this measure, but demanded the right to name another, and took up a bill, also introduced by himself, to provide the manner of assessment of promissory notes and the penalty for not listing them. He had no sooner named the bill than Speaker Smith said: "The clerk will call the roll," which resulted in overwhelming defeat for Jennings's bill.

Kirk wished to dispose of Senator Dimick's bill to define the duties of fish commissioners, and fix their salaries. The bill was to provide for the election by the legislature of three fish commissioners, to hold office four years. They were to be required to give bonds in the sum of $5000 each, to faithfully perform all the duties; they were to see that all laws for the protection and propagation of fish were enforced, and to build, operate and manage fish hatcheries. The only appropriation made, however, was one to cover salaries, which were fixed at $2000 a year and expenses for one commissioner, and $1500 a year and expenses for each of the other two. Thompson called attention to the high salaries and light duties, and others saw it in the same light, for the bill failed to pass 27 to 23.

Labree called up and the house passed Ricker's bill locating roads for lumbering purposes. It allows those who have timber to get to market to construct logging roads or chutes across the property of another. This bill, if it passes the senate and becomes a law, will be of great benefit to those whose timber is back from navigable streams or improved roads. No one can then shut out a neighbor by owning land in front of him.

Ladd of Multnomah called up his bill to amend the law empowering cities of ten thousand inhabitants or over, to establish school districts, so that such districts shall be enabled to prescribe courses of study and select text books, to make vaccination compulsory, and to elect a school clerk, prescribe his duties, and fix his compensation and the amount of his bond. It was made a special order for 8 P. M., at which hour it was discussed and passed. The bill is of especial importance in Portland as it is the only city in the state affected by the law. That portion of the original bill which took the schools from under the supervision of the county superintendent was omitted. Ladd made a strong speech in favor of his measure, setting forth that the amendments proposed to the law were necessary to increase the efficiency of the Portland public schools.

Northup spoke practically to the same effect. He said that there were nearly 4000 pupils attending the public schools of Portland, and that where there were so many pupils it was necessary to grade the schools. "Come and help us," he said, "and let us make our schools, if not our water, the best in the United States." [Laughter.]

Paquet said that the constitution prohibited special legislation, and that this was special legislation of the worst kind. He charged that the Portland members had manifested improper animus in pushing their measures.

Gilbert denied that there was any improper animus.

Hume and Blundell opposed the bill because they objected to giving the Portland school board power to select text books.

"It has been charged against me," said Miller, of Jackson, "that I have been opposed to the interests of Portland. They need books that should not teach the doctrine that water bonds should be non-taxable." [Laughter.]

"We have given the city of Portland the whole dog except the tail," said Derby, "and now we might as well throw in the tail." [Laughter.

Laughlin tried to have passed the bill of Senator Watts, authorizing William Ball to construct a log boom on the North Yamhill river.

Northup called attention to the fact that this bill was for the purpose of giving one or two men a monopoly of floating logs down that stream for a period of twenty years.

Several others opposed the measure for the same reason, and it failed to pass.

Layman also asked for a senate bill, that of Chamberlin of Marion, to establish a state reform school. It appropriates $30,000. The location of the school is left to the discretion of the board which will control the institution, consisting of the governor, secretary of state and treasurer. There was very little discussion upon the bill, which passed by a good majority.

The Monmouth normal school made another attempt this afternoon to secure state recognition. Napton, who voted against the bill to create a board of regents, which was lost yesterday by a tie vote of 29 to 29, moved to reconsider, and this was done. The same old arguments were again offered. Derby, of Yamhill, who voted for the bill yesterday, had come to the conclusion that it was not a good thing to do, and changed to the other side. This offset the change of Napton, and the bill was again defeated, 29 to 29.

Senator Veatch has acquired the habit of voting "no" on all propositions, to such an alarming extent that he sometimes says the word inadvertently. This morning Senator Sinclair, seeing that several members were out of their seats, moved a call of the house, which was proceeded with. When Veatch's name was called he voted "no" as loud as he could, to the amusement of all.

The senate this morning passed Dimick's fish commission and Sinclair's bill to protect salmon and food fishes. Veatch opposed the first, because it made an appropriation. Watts opposed that section of Sinclair's bill which makes it a misdemeanor for sawmill proprietors either to cast or allow sawdust to be thrown into a stream. In a word, he argued that such a provision would work a hardship on the sawmill men, and he did not think the lumber industry should be sacrificed for Chinook or steelhead salmon. Watts wound up by paying Barin a high compliment on his knowledge of fishing.

Chandler said this bill was the only fish bill he ever knew anything about, and did not know much about it either, only the section which prohibits the throwing of sawdust into streams. He went on to say that the mills in Eastern Oregon have been throwing their sawdust into the creeks for years with the result that trout and other fish have been killed.

Tongue said that a great deal of damage had been done by this practice in Washington county. Not only have the fish been killed, but the streams have been filled up and now overflow lands that were once tillable. He was heartily in favor of the section.

Senator Carson, who has had many years experience in the milling business, and who supported the first bill of this kind several years ago, said that the injury to the sawmill men by the passage of the bill would be very small indeed, compared with the damage wrought to the fishing industry by throwing sawdust into streams.

Stanley and Barin made statements to the same effect.

The bill was passed without a dissenting voice.

The senate also passed Steel's bill, appropriating $15,000 for the construction and maintenance of fish hatcheries.

Senator Dawson's bill, providing for an appropriation of $20,000 to build a deaf mute school within two and a half miles of Albany, failed of passage in the senate this morning. It received ten votes, eleven voted against it and nine were absent. As the roll call on the passage of the bill proceeded Dawson saw that the bill was likely to fail, because of many absentees, and he moved a call of the house. The sergeant brought in several members, but not enough to pass the bill.

The house to-night passed McCoy's bill dividing Wasco county, but accepted Maxwell's amendment naming the new county Sherman instead of Fulton, as proposed by Mr. McCoy's bill. Maxwell was prompted to make the change by a disgraceful occurrence in the house at the sixth biennial session, nineteen years ago. J. Fulton, whose name it was proposed to perpetuate in the new county, was democratic member of the house from Wasco county then. A joint resolution inviting General W. T. Sherman, then in Oregon, to visit the state house, "in remembrance of his great service in the cause of American labor and for the preservation of the American Union," etc., having been offered, Fulton opposed it in a bitter speech denunciatory of General Sherman. It was a regular secession speech from the word go, and the outcome was that General Sherman did not visit the state house, because two-thirds of the members of the house being democrats, Fulton's views met with their approbation. Fulton's speech of nineteen years ago was not forgotten when his name was recalled by an effort to perpetuate it. Thus time sets all things right.

Senator Irvine of Linn was taken quite ill on Thursday, but remained at his desk until this morning, when he was compelled to ask for leave of absence. Being in favor of the Northup pilotage bill, which was the special order for the afternoon session, he hoped to cast his vote in the interests of the commerce of the state, but was scarcely able to sit up when he left the senate chamber.

"Mr. President, I wish to offer a resolution," said Chandler in the senate to-day.

"What is the nature of it?" asked the chair.

"To restrict the waste of gas; to put an end to too much talking." [Laughter.] The resolution, which is as follows, was then read and adopted:

WHEREAS, Life is short and time valuable; therefore be it

Resolved, By the senate that no member shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes on any one subject, without special permission of two-thirds of the members present.

Veatch thought the resolution was out of place, saying he never knew a senator to speak for more than two minutes on any one subject. He voted no, to be consistent.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Passage of the Bull Run Water Bill by a Vote of 22 to 6.

SALEM, Feb. 15.—In the senate this morning there was decided opposition to taking up bills out of regular order. The effort to take up the Portland water bill was the only one which was successful.

ENGROSSED BILLS—THIRD READING.

By Dimick—To define the duties of fish commissioners and to fix their salaries at $1500 a year, the president to receive $2000; passed.

By Sinclair—To protect salmon and other food fishes; passed.

The assessment and taxation bill was pending when recess was taken until 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The assessment and taxation bill passed.

The motion to reconsider the vote by which Senator Hatch's normal school bill was lost yesterday carried, but the second attempt to pass the bill, also, failed.

Williamson's bill to prevent sheep, horses, or cattle being driven upon lands of another without permission; passed.

Jennings's bill to amend the law relating to the collection of taxes was withdrawn.

Dimick's bill to define the duties of the fish commission; failed to pass.

Jennings's bill to provide the manner of assessment of promissory notes and fixing the penalty for not listing them; failed to pass.

Ricker's bill locating roads for lumbering and logging purposes; passed.

Ladd's bill relating to school districts of 10,000 inhabitants, or over; made the special order for 8 P. M.

Watts's bill to authorize Wm. Ball to construct a boom on the North Yamhill river; failed to pass.

Chamberlin's bill for a state reform school; passed.

Recess till 7:30 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Speaker Smith was excused from attendance this evening, in order to be present at a reception tendered him by the A. O. U. W. Apperson of Clackamas presided.

Pope offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three to compute the mileage of the members; adopted.

Maxwell called up his bill appropriating $14,311 for relief of Tillamook county; passed.

McCoy called up his bill to create the county of Fulton out of a part of Wasco county; passed, with an amendment that the name of the new county shall be Sherman.

Ladd's bill to amend the act providing for the establishment of a school district in towns of 10,000 inhabitants, was called up, on special order, at 8:30, and passed.

Miller of Jackson called up Senator Stanley's bill to incorporate Jacksonville, which was passed.

Miller of Linn called up Senator Irvine's bill to amend the charter of Albany; passed.

By the committee on education, S. J. R. No. 6, requiring either the superintendent or warden of the penitentiary to reside there; adopted.

The joint committee appointed to visit the state penitentiary reported, recommending an appropriation to pay for improvements; adopted and referred to the committee on ways and means.

Adjourned.

Young Musick Lodged in Jail.

DAYTON, W. T., Feb. 15.—T. D. Musick, the young man suspected of stealing money on the 13th from B. M. Washburne, of this city, was lodged in the county jail at noon. While being arrested in Walla Walla, he attempted to shoot Deputy Sheriff Mustard. He does not deny taking the horse. Nearly all the money stolen was found on him. At the preliminary trial before Justice of the Peace Kuhn, Musick was held to answer, the bond being fixed at $1500.

PACIFIC COAST EVENTS.

Important Decision in a California Pilotage Case.

A SHOCKING CRIME AT BENICIA.

The Mormon Defeat at Ogden—An Interesting Will Contest—Notes From Puget Sound—A Delegate in Disfavor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—A case of much importance to owners of coasting vessels was decided in the United States circuit court by Judge Sawyer to-day. E. M. Freeman, of the Pilots' Protective Association, brought suit against the ship Undaunted, an American vessel clearing for New York, for half pilotage fees, the vessel declining to take a pilot. The suit was based upon section 2456 of the code of California, which provides that all vessels shall pay pilot fees, except those coasting between this port and points in this state, Oregon, Washington and Alaska territories. Judge Sawyer held that this was discrimination in favor of the states named, and in direct opposition of section 4237 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which provides that "no regulation or provisions shall be adopted by any state which shall make any discrimination in the rate of pilotage between vessels sailing between ports of one state and vessels sailing between ports of a different state." In accordance with this a verdict was given in favor of defendant and the libel dismissed.

A SHOCKING CRIME.

A Benicia Saloonkeeper Mortally Injured by Supposed Burglars.

BENICIA, Cal., Feb. 15.—Patrick Ryan, a saloonkeeper, was found last night, about midnight, by Officer Malone, who was attracted by groans, with his head beaten to a jelly and his throat cut. He was still alive, but unable to articulate, although he tried to speak. In his agonies he had crawled over the barroom, and was covered with blood. Death came to his relief in a short time.

The motive for the crime is supposed to have been robbery, as Ryan was a quiet, inoffensive man. It is surmised that the parties who committed the deed went in and called for a glass of beer, as there was lying on the counter 20 cents, and on the floor a beer glass covered with blood. Ryan, who was in the act of retiring when called, must have been drawing the beer when he was struck on the head with a piece of iron pipe. The blow did not cause unconsciousness, and it is surmised that Ryan recognized the parties, and to save themselves they cut his throat with a sharp instrument.

They left the saloon without taking anything, although Ryan had on his person some money and a gold watch and chain, and in the cupboard behind the bar was a sack containing $60.

THE MORMON DEFEAT AT OGDEN.

A Large Audience Witnesses the Change of Administrations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—A Chronicle special from Ogden, says: The most important event in Ogden's history occurred this afternoon, when, among an audience of several hundred in the council room of the new city hall, the Mormon administration surrendered to the recently elected liberal city officials, headed by Mayor Fred. J. Kiesel, who occupied the chair by the side of the retiring mayor, David Eccles.

It was a scene of sublime impressiveness, for the old timers, who had long suffered under the Mormon rule, and who now took a fresh breath under the dawn of an American administration.

In making their last reports, none of the council members exhibited any more than below the average intelligence, except Alderman John Rieve, agent of the Utah Central railway, and Councilor John A. Boyle, the defeated people's party candidate for mayor. One of the central figures was J. W. McNutt, recorder-elect, who had engineered the election of the liberal ticket with consummate American political shrewdness.

The financial report showed cash on hand for the city of $20,600.

Eccles gracefully congratulated Kiesel and his associates, and the latter with equal felicity responded to these friendly sentiments, recognizing the honorable character of the retiring council. Three cheers each were given for the incoming and outgoing councils, and the meeting adjourned amid the best of feeling.

INTERESTING WILL CONTEST.

One of the Heirs Refuses to Compromise for $20,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Attorneys representing all the contestants to the estate of Charles McLaughlin, killed a few years ago by Jerome B. Cox, met in Judge Coffey's court room to invoke the aid of the court to compel John C. Martin, one of the heirs of the estate, to consent to a settlement. McLaughlin left an estate valued at several million dollars, but the widow, it is alleged, settled with the several heirs on a basis of $800,000, leaving the residue, at her death, to her niece, Miss Dillon, and adopted daughter, Miss Virginia Ives. The other heirs thereupon began suit in equity to set aside the will, on the grounds of fraud and deception. Miss Ives, rather than have the estate in litigation, agreed to pay the five contestants $20,000 each, which offer has been accepted by all but Martin, who states that he will fight the will to the last. In court to-day he stated that he had no counsel, and he understood no attorney would take his case. The court ordered a postponement till Monday, to allow him further opportunity to obtain counsel.

FROM TACOMA.

A Funeral Train Starts East—Local and General Notes.

TACOMA, Feb. 15.—A special funeral train, with the remains of the late Assistant General Superintendent Root, left at 10:30 this morning for Brainerd, Minn. The train consisted of five coaches, which, with the locomotive, were heavily draped with black. Four were official cars, including Mr. Root's own car, Chief Engineer Kendrick's, Pacific Division Superintendent Hoaner's and Cascade Division Superintendent Prowell's. These cars will accompany the train to Spokane Falls, where the superintendent of the Idaho division will meet the train and take charge. On reaching each division terminus, the superintendent of the next division will meet the train in a private car, and escort the remains to the end of his division. On passing the scene of the accident this morning, Assistant Engineer Buckley had the workmen in line, on flat cars, with shovels at rest and hat in right hand, to give a silent salute to the dead; and the engineering corps and engineer and fireman of the work train also saluted the train as it passed slowly by. Mrs. Root and daughter, Chief Engineer Kendrick and Dr. Buckley accompany the train to the destination. It is not yet determined where the remains shall be interred, but probably at Rochester, N. Y., which was Mrs. Root's early home.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NOTES.

H. C. Parkhurst, formerly of the Oregon Siftings, was discharged from the position of managing editor of the Ledger, while in a beastly state of intoxication to-day, and was later on picked out of the gutter by Police Captain Cavanaugh and lodged in the city jail. As he had but 70 cents on him, he will find his way to the chain gang to-morrow, unless charitable persons interfere to pay his fine.

Frank Lunkey has obtained divorce from his wife, Mary J. Lunkey, who eloped with Fred C. Henu, a Seattle man, to San Francisco last November.

A man named Doc Robbeson was cut in two by a passing train while walking along the track four miles west of Stampede tunnel to-day.

Probate was granted to-day in the will of John Tod, an old pioneer and a member of the firm of Lamneister & Tod, butchers. All his property is left to the family of his late partner, John Lamneister. The property is very valuable.

C. M. Easterday to-day filed his final account of the estate of Annie Walker, deceased.

FROM SEATTLE.

A Truce in the Mud Flat War—The Real Estate Swindle.

SEATTLE, Feb. 15.—The war over the mud flats has ceased. Last night was the first in several that the oystermen did not cut down a number of piles of the syndicate. The reason very probably was that the syndicate had gotten tired of the warfare, and yesterday withdrew their pile-driver, without having driven any new piles. The matter will be carried to the courts, and possibly a legal settlement of the mooted tide flat question may be made.

L. M. Hamilton, who was agent for Cameron, the swindler who attempted to sell two lots in Bell's addition to M. McTeigh, a harness dealer, was arrested to-day, on complaint of McTeigh, for obtaining money under false pretenses. Hamilton claims that he never saw Cameron until he met him two or three weeks since, and that he was entirely innocent in attempting to dispose of the lots, supposing Cameron's title to them to be valid. The examination has not taken place yet, but will when Notary Murray, before whom the acknowledgment of the fraudulent deed from Ocobock to Cameron was taken, can be brought to Seattle.

Clarence Shelden and Richard Mills, two youthful larcenists who have figured in the courts quite frequently, and who are now held on a charge of grand larceny, will to-morrow be sent to the poorhouse, in lack of a reform school.

THE REPUBLICAN LEAGUE.

Election of Delegates to Attend the National Convention.

OLYMPIA, W. T., Feb. 15.—The republican league of Washington territory held a conference last evening at the Carlton house, for the purpose of electing four delegates to attend the national republican league in Baltimore on the 28th inst. Captain W. McMicken, president of the league, acted as chairman. The delegates elected were Governor W. C. Squire, Seattle; T. H. Cavanaugh, Olympia; R. B. Hyde, Spokane Falls, and Captain Thomas R. Brown, Tacoma. The alternates elected were T. G. Dyer, Seattle; Colonel L. S. Howlett, North Yakima; Harry L. Wilson, Spokane Falls, and S. W. Beadward, Tacoma. Probably both delegates and alternates will be in attendance, and afterwards proceed to Washington for the inauguration ceremonies.

DELEGATE TOOLE IN DISFAVOR.

The Montana Legislature Refuses to Entrust Him With a Memorial.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 15.—The people of Montana, irrespective of politics, are anxious for admission, upon almost any terms, but the legislature blocks the game. Delegate Toole is the stumbling block. He wrote a letter to that body about two weeks ago, asking that action be taken by it at once and to telegraph a memorial to Washington praying that Montana be admitted into the Union. A memorial was prepared in the house, which had a clause in it providing for sending it to Toole for presentation. This raised a rumpus, and there was a demand that Toole's name should not be used, but that the memorial should be addressed direct to congress. It was delayed for several days, and then the house changed it and amended it so that they thought it would be satisfactory to the council. But it wasn't, and that body laid it on the table, where it will probably sleep.

News Items From Salem.

SALEM, Or., 15.—Articles of incorporation were filed to-day in the office of the secretary of state by The Dalles Land and Improvement Company: Caleb H. Thornburg, M. A. Moody, J. O. Meek, F. A. Abernethy and L. L. McCartney, incorporators; capital stock, $50,000; object, to do a general real estate business, and to operate street car and motor railroads and telephone lines; principal office, The Dalles.

Samuel S. Apple, Hilgard, Union county, and J. J. Johnson, East Portland, were appointed notaries public; and William Jenks Fell, Philadelphia, and Edward J. Jones, Boston, were appointed commissioners of deeds for Oregon.

James Bird and John Rath were brought from Wasco county to-day, sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary for robbery.

James Brown, aged 30, violently insane, was brought to the asylum to-day from Wasco. He was formerly a railroad fireman. He committed a burglary and was in jail, where he became insane, brooding over his crime and prospective punishment.

Arrangements were completed to-day to build, three stories high, the new brick block heretofore spoken of on Commercial street. The building will cover a frontage of 197 feet. The lower rooms will have iron and plate glass fronts. The whole upper front will be of the best pressed brick, and all will be completed in the latest improved style throughout.

North Yakima Improvement Notes.

NORTH YAKIMA, Feb. 14.—The Holton tract of land, adjoining the city, was sold to-day to St. Paul parties, for $32,750.

The plant has been ordered for the tobacco factory to manufacture the Yakima tobacco.

The ground was broken to-day for a large brick building on the corner of Second and Chestnut streets, to be built by Colonel Howlett and Captain Thomas.

A woolen mill project was laid before the board of trade last Tuesday evening by Iowa parties, and was favorably received and acted on.

A Scandal at Victoria.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 15.—It is understood that the wife of an English baronet, at present a resident of this city, will take proceedings against her husband on a charge of non-support and infidelity. A fashionable member of the demi monde, who is known as "The Countess," is mixed up in the matter.

"DE LESSEPS'S FOLLY."

No Probability of the Canal Schemes Being Carried Through.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A railroad man, who has just returned from Panama, where he has been residing for two years past, reports a deplorable state of affairs among the laborers on the canal. He says that there is no question about the canal project being a failure, and that within a very short time the work will be entirely closed down, and everybody who can do so will abandon the scene of "De Lesseps's folly."

He tells a remarkable story of the recklessness with which money was squandered on the proposed canal. The last important desertion took place February 1, when the contractor at San Pueblo cut discharged his two thousand men.

At one time as many as 50,000 negroes, mostly from Jamaica, were employed on the canal. From time to time men were discharged. They became turbulent, as the unemployed increased in numbers, and the Colombian government had to place on duty a large guard to prevent an outbreak. This is the dry season, and there is, consequently, not so much sickness as there will be when the wet season sets in. Then, unless the idle men are returned to their homes, it is feared that they will die off like sheep.

Newspaper Men in Convention.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The American Newspaper Publishers' Association concluded its session to-day. Several interesting papers were read. The executive committee was instructed to keep the members posted on the progress made in the type-setting machine, and on the differences between employes and employers.

Officers were elected as follows: President, James W. Scott, of the Chicago Herald; vice president, Colonel Taylor, of the Boston Globe; secretary, F. K. Misch, of San Francisco; treasurer, W. M. Laffan, of the New York Sun.

Mines Closed, Because of Fire.

CALUMET, Mich., Feb. 14.—All of the Calumet and Hecla shafts, except No. 5, were sealed yesterday afternoon, as the miners at work in shafts Nos. 2 and 4 were forced to come up on account of the gas and smoke. There is still a fire burning in sections, but no encroachments upon the new timber is being made. The shafts are being banked and the old process of smothering will be pursued. How long the mine may remain closed is now as indefinite as ever.

Discovery of Old Placer Mines.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15.—A special from Gainesville, Texas, says excitement is running high in the Purcell Indian territory over the recent discovery of a number of old placer mines, two miles east of Purcell, in the Choctaw nation, among the hills along the South Canadian river. Miners went to work yesterday and, after a few hours' work, succeeded in making some valuable discoveries, and by night had taken out a large amount of gold.

A Heavy Failure.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 15.—The Grand Lake Coal Company, one of the largest firms in the city, has confessed judgment. The extent of the failure is not known, as the firm's property, which runs up into the millions, is distributed along the rivers from this city to the Gulf of Mexico.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 15.—Persons interested, state that the indebtedness of the firm reaches $200,000, and may be $300,000.

Fleetest Horses in the World.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 15.—In the New Mexico legislature during a debate over the passage of the bill regulating the fees of clerks of district courts, Speaker Fountain took the floor and called attention to the fact that the sheriff of Grant county was allowed four horses, and charged for ten days aggregate mileage of 21,060 miles, or more than 500 miles a day for each horse. The account was sworn to and the court approved the same.

On the Gallows.

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., Feb. 15.—John Lee was hung at 10 o'clock this morning for the murder of Charles Chelin, at Brandon, on the night of July 19, 1888. Executive clemency saved Martin Moe, who was to have been hung with him, from a similar fate. They had a hard fate. They were hard-working, industrious fellows. Lee had a grudge against Chelin over a love affair. He and Moe were drunk when they shot Chelin.

The Prohibitionist Convention.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 14.—The national conference of prohibitionists was continued to-day. A plan to reorganize the party was offered by W. Thomas Miles, of Chicago. The leading feature was to make a four-fifths majority necessary for the adoption of any principle by the party. The woman suffrage division of the party saw in this a blow at their principle, and warmly opposed the plan, which was finally defeated.

A Desperate Fight.

MOUNT STERLING, KY., Feb. 14.—Three constables of Menifee county, with a posse of four, went into the woods to-day, near the Montgomery county line, to arrest R. A. L. Draughn and six others. The posse were fired upon, and they returned the fire. The battle continued some time, but no details of the result have been received.

Colonel Dudley Not Indicted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—The Federal grand jury reported to Judge Woods to-day that they had no further business. They returned three additional indictments. The name of Colonel Dudley does not appear. Judge Woods did not formally dismiss them, however, but told them they might be called together again.

A Smallpox Scare.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Feb. 14.—There is general alarm here at the report that many guests leaving the Ormsby house at Carson, on the discovery of smallpox there, had secured lodgings in various localities here. The board of health this afternoon resolved to establish strict quarantine of the premises where the disease may appear.

Election of City Officers.

OLYMPIA, Feb. 14.—The city council elected the following officers last evening: Robert Marr, clerk; G. Savage, marshal; H. McClelland, night police; G. D. Messegee, street commissioner; C. H. Ayer, city attorney; D. S. B. Henry, surveyor, C. J. Petterson, engineer.

Arms for Samoa.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The steamer Carondelet sailed late this afternoon for Samoa. It was authentically learned during the day that 133 cases of rifles, shells and ammunition, brought here by the steamer Westerland from Antwerp Wednesday had been placed on board the Carondelet.

No Change of Venue.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Justice O'Brien, in the supreme court to-day, denied without any comment the motion made on behalf of Henry S. Ives and George H. Stayner for change of venue in the big suit brought against them by the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad.

A New Senator From New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 15.—General Gilman Marston has been tendered and has accepted the appointment of United States senator by Governor Sawyer from the 4th of March until the legislature of June provides for the next six years' term.

Score of the Women Cyclists.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The fourth day's bicycle contest score, at 1 A. M., was: Stanley 414, Baldwin 368, Von Blumen 395, Woods 291, Snallor 349, Lewis 333, Hart 307, Oaks 349, Armaindo 172, McShane 244, Brown 135.

A WHITE BOOK PRINTED

It Gives the German Version of Affairs in Samoa.

THE ORIGIN OF THE DIFFICULTY.

English and American Officers Charged With Inciting Trouble Among the Natives—Complaint Against Klein's Actions.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—In the reichstag to-day, the white book, in reference to the Samoan matter, was introduced. It comprises 41 documents, extending from December 8, 1886, to February 5, 1889.

Among the documents relating to the recent events is the report of the German consul at Apia, dated February 24, 1889. It describes the endeavors of the Americans and English to provoke conflicts. A dispatch dated September, 1888, deals with the revolt of Mataafa, and the support given to him by Captain Leary, United States navy.

After the account of the attack upon the Germans December 18 comes a telegram from Count Herbert Bismarck, dated January 1, 1889, to the German ministers at Washington and London, directing them to inform Secretary Bayard and Lord Salisbury respecting the attack, and ordering the minister at Washington to complain to the United States government that the American, Klein, was prominent in the fighting. The ministers were further instructed to declare that Germany adhered to the treaties and would respect the rights founded thereon, and they were to appeal to both governments to co-operate actively with Germany and re-establish tranquillity.

On January 8 Count Herbert Bismarck telegraphed the German consul at Apia that, on account of the agreement with the United States and Great Britain, the annexation of Samoa by Germany was out of the question.

The dispatch sent the German ambassadors at London and Washington on January 13 states that the object of the military measures against Mataafa and his partisans was to punish the murderers of German soldiers and to secure to German subjects the possession of their property.

The documents dated February 2, sent by Count Herbert Bismarck to Admiral Baron Von Dergoltz, chief of the German admiralty, says that Germany is not at war with Samoa, as the term is understood by international law, but that she regards Tamasese the rightful ruler, and Mataafa as a rebel, against whom and his followers retaliation must be enforced. Any one standing by them is the promoter of the conflict between them and the Germans, and must take the consequences.

Count Herbert concludes by declaring that nothing is changed in the legal position of the foreign subjects in Samoa.

The white book ends with a long report from the German consul at Apia. The report is dated January 4, and has thirteen appendices, dealing with events from December 4, 1888. These record that on December 19, Mataafa, in a humble letter, sought to open negotiations with the consul but would not surrender himself, although pledges were given that his life would be spared. In a subsequent letter Mataafa promises to surrender in the presence of the British and American consuls. The German consul declined to entertain the offer.

On November 24 Prince Bismarck sent a telegram saying that if the vindication of Tamasese was impossible, the utmost advances should be made to reconcile him with Mataafa. On December 8 Dr. Knapp reported that the American commander at Apia was stirring up the natives against the Germans.

On December 17 Blacklock complains that drunken sailors from the German man-of-war Olga had committed outrages in Apia, entering houses and wounding men and women.

Dr. Knapp reported later that foreigners had spread the rumor that the Germans had been forbidden to interfere. This rumor had the effect of encouraging the natives, who stoned the German sailors, and destroyed German property. In January Prince Bismarck notified Dr. Knapp that reprisals were necessary, but only such as were consonant with the treaty with England and America. The chancellor said: "Because Mataafa assaulted Tamasese, we shall interfere only by succoring Tamasese." Prince Bismarck charged Dr. Knapp to entreat the other foreign consuls to combine, in order to restore peace.

PARNELL WAS PRESENT.

Production of Numerous Letters Written by the Irish Leader.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Parnell was present at to-day's session of the Parnell commission. The solicitor for the Times was further cross-examined. He offered in evidence a schedule of all the signatures of Parnell that he possessed. He said that Parnell's writing varied considerably and produced a letter in which Parnell's name was written in six different ways.

Justice Hannen ordered the letter to be photographed.

Witness denied that he had heard that Pigott and the league clerk he interviewed in Ireland had a grievance against Parnell. Pigott made a statutory declaration that Solicitor Lewis offered him £1000 if he would swear that he forged the letter said to have been written by Parnell. The Times paid Pigott only £40 or £50. Witness had Pigott watched and tracked him into the company of Labouchere. He paid Houston, secretary of the Irish Loyal and Patriotic Union, altogether, £3000. There was no bargain when the letters were first brought to the Times. Their genuineness was to be tested first.

Soames said that Pigott told him of the interviews he had had with the solicitor and Labouchere. The latter sent Pigott several £10 notes. Pigott showed witness a letter from Solicitor Lewis, accusing him (Pigott) of having admitted that he forged the letters, and his reply, whereupon witness required that a statutory declaration be made, in which Pigott detailed all the communications between himself and Solicitor Lewis, including the offer of £1000 by Lewis on behalf of Labouchere, and said he would swear that he had forged the letters. The statement caused a sensation. Pigott did not tell him of the correspondence he had with Archbishop Walsh in Dublin regarding the letters. He never heard of this correspondence until he heard it mentioned in court last evening.

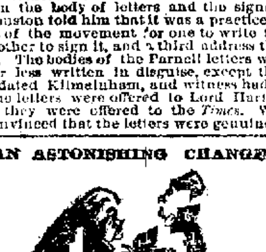
Soames said that a man calling himself Wilson wrote to him, offering to give information. He recognized the writing as that of a man named O'Brien, emissary from Egan to Labouchere. He had O'Brien watched. At Labouchere's instance O'Brien was sent to Dublin to see Pigott. The men following O'Brien traced him to Labouchere's and Pigott's houses, and then traced Pigott, solicitor for Lewis and Parnell to Labouchere's residence.

O'Brien was known in America as Robertson. It was Robertson who deluded the detective Moser with letters, which have since been admitted to be forgeries. Kirby was sent to America to procure from Sheridan the original Parnell letter, a fac simile of which was published in the Times.

Soames testified that Parnell's letters were forgeries, then the writing of the others signed with the names Egan, Campbell, Davitt and O'Kelly, of Tyrone, must have been forged. The body of the six disputed Parnell letters was in the writing of Campbell.

McDonald, manager of the Times, deposed that in October, 1886, he got five Parnell and six Egan letters. He stipulated that their authenticity must be tested before the payment of the price that Houston said he gave for them, and, when the O'Kelly and Davitt letters were tested, he gave Houston £1780, the exact sum expended in gaining possession of them. Witness had asked about the difference between the body of letters and the signatures, and Houston told him that it was a practice of the leaders of the movement for one to write the letter, another to sign it, and a third address the envelope. The bodies of the Parnell letters were all more or less written in disguise, except the one letter dated Kilmainham, and witness had heard that the letters were offered to Lord Hartington before they were offered to the Times. Witness was convinced that the letters were genuine.

AN ASTONISHING CHANGE.



"My dear madam, I never saw you looking so well, and you were so poorly, too."

"Yes, doctor, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the grandest thing in the world for run-down, nervous and debilitated women. That's the secret of my appearance."

Up to a month ago Mrs. Belden, an elderly lady, living at 510 Mason street, San Francisco, was failing in health and flesh so rapidly as to seriously alarm her relatives. She now writes: "I have taken but one bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsparilla, but it is astonishing. I am regaining my lost flesh and have not felt as well in years."

Oyster Farmers, and Real Estate Brass Bands and Auctioneers

A Lively Time Expected This Summer in the Boom Business—The Ups and Downs of Life—Personal Points

SEATTLE, Feb. 15, 1889.—There is a good deal of Valentine scrip (not St. Valentine, who had his day yesterday) floating around this part of the country, and as it can be utilized in payment of unsurveyed lands it is more valuable than money. I am told that payment for the Hot Springs property on U. S. unsurveyed land on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad was made or tendered that way, and that tide flat lands in front of Seattle and Tacoma are squatted upon with Valentine scrip for payment. Squatters have won the day here by the aid of Winchester rifles. An old territorial law to develop oyster culture enables anybody so disposed to try his hand at the business on any of the tide flats, and the result has been a wonderful development, not of oysters but of oyster farmers. Even the massive Colonel J. M. Steele, of Tacoma, who never saw an oyster grow in his native wilds of Erie county, Pennsylvania, has an oyster claim in front of the City of Destiny staring the Northern Pacific railroad company in the face. The colonel imported his seed oysters from Olympia, planted them on the flats in the mud, and staked out his claim two years ago, but nary a bivalve has been fished up since. There is going to be some lively legal music when the territory becomes a state and the time arrives to dispose of the tide flat lands. It is not oysters that the squatters are after. It is land, and they will have to fight the railroad corporations, both here and in Tacoma, for they are after the same land with or without oysters. The winners will be the lawyers.

Nelson Bennett, who has been down in the Southern country, has just returned. He is having a steamboat built at the mouth of the Puyallup river, to run between Bellingham bay and the up Sound ports. The Pacific Navigation Company of Tacoma, is also building one for the same purpose, at the same place. "Fairhaven on Bellingham bay," says Mr. Bennett, "is the finest point on that wonderful harbor, and I am building a railroad from there thirty miles up the Skagit river, and everything is to be broad gauge."

"Are you going to develop any of the coal mines there," I asked.

"We don't care whether we develop coal or not. We are going to build a good railroad."

"Are you going to build through one of the Cascade passes eastward, and is Jim Hill or the Northern Pacific Company backing you?" I boldly and perhaps impertinently asked. Mr. Bennett just gave me one of his broad gauge smiles in reply. This is just the same kind of an answer that J. M. Buckley gave me when I asked him the other day if Jim Hill or the Manitoba road was at the back of the road known as the Spokane Northern, which is to go out from Spokane Falls northward, and pass through the Colville country and join the Canadian Pacific, or at least strike a point on the North fork of the Columbia river where steamboat navigation is good until the Canadian Pacific road is reached. It is said that Mr. Buckley is interested in the road and has some property interests out that way.

The brass band and the auctioneer in connection with the sale of real estate has arrived on the Sound from Southern California, and the air will soon be resonant with such real estate musical gems as "It Was My Last Penny," "Oh, Willie We Have Missed You," "Come back, Charley," etc. The high sounding name of "The Puget Sound Bureau" stares one in the face both here and at Tacoma. This is the institution that is to work up enthusiasm among the laggards with music and induce purchasers to come in out of the wet by the "going, going, gone" of the loud mouthed auctioneer. "I hate to see those fellows come here and start business," said a conservative old land dealer yesterday, "because they were the end of the collapsed boom in Los Angeles and San Diego and we do not want to see real estate sold that way." I did not exactly see how my conservative friend was going to be placated, as the bureau crowd knew how to advertise their business, which was more than he did. Some of the rich old skinflints of the Sound engaged in business do not even take a daily newspaper. They read a weekly or have it read to them to economize on the loss of voice. It would paralyze them to pay an advertising bill.

I met a butcher to-day who had escaped from the Southern California boom with a few dollars and a pretty good suit of clothes. He left the Sound country seven years ago to flourish awhile in the land of flowers and fruits. He had a quaint way of putting things and said that he felt like going out to the slaughter house and staying there with the cattle the balance of his days when he arrived in Tacoma and found Charlie Uhlman putting up two splendid brick blocks and doing a splendid business in the meat line. "Why?" I asked him. "Well, you see seven years ago Uhlman was riding around Tacoma on horseback serving meat for me, and now where am I?" This only illustrates the ups and downs of some people in the boom sections. The butcher in further conversation said: "Don't forget that you will get at least 10,000 people from Los Angeles and San Diego in a very few weeks. They were getting ready to come in delegations when I left."

It is understood here to-night that Henry Villard has bought a very large block of real estate in this city, the particulars of which will be announced in a few days.

I am told by a responsible party here relative to the woman Mrs. Theresa Allen Fisher, crazed by money, an account of which appears in THE OREGONIAN this morning, that about $600 of her money is in possession of the late Deputy Sheriff W. R. [illegible] of Pasco, who was appointed her administrator by the probate judge of Franklin county at [illegible] last year when that official adjudged her insane and sent her to Steilacoom.

"Seattle is not doing the fair thing relative to fire limits," said a well known business man. "Tacoma established fire limits and faithfully adhered to the law, but too many favors have been shown here, and the result is that Tacoma is building more brick buildings this year than we are. Eastern people coming there will not fail to observe the difference in the substantial character of the buildings in the business section of the city. We should rigidly adhere to the fire limit boundaries and get rid of the frame structures as fast as possible."

"Speaking of booms in the Sound country," said Traveling Auditor Bird of the Northern Pacific road, "just wait and you will see one of the biggest booms ever witnessed in Portland this summer." "In what respect?" I asked. "Manufacturing," he replied. "It is going to be the great manufacturing center of the Pacific Northwest."

"Colonel Howlett of Yakima was correct when he said that there will be a number of large cities on the Sound," said a railroad official to-day, "but the most accessible place is going to be the greatest city. Do you know where that is?" I replied in the negative. "Ship harbor," was his answer. About an hour afterward I learned that he owned land there, and so, in the language of the end man, "You can't most always sometimes tell."

Next Tuesday the Knights of Pythias of Puget sound will celebrate the silver anniversary of the order. Twenty five years ago a number of clerks in the surgeon general's office in Washington, D. C., organized Washington Lodge, No. 1, of this wonderful order, now numbering more than 150,000 members. No. 1 Lodge soon died and Franklin Lodge, No. 2, composed of hard-fisted mechanics at the navy yard of that city, was the only lodge in existence for some years. From this lodge grew all others, as No. 1 was never revived. It was muscle as well as brain that saved its life. Justus H. Rathbone, the founder, lives in Alexandria, Va., and is clerk of a division in the war department at Washington.

AN UNGRATEFUL BROTHER

The Bull Run Water Bill from a Labor Standpoint

PORTLAND, February 15, 1889.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Monday, February 11, the day set apart at Salem to endeavor to pass the Bull Run water bill over the governor's veto, had the appearance in this city of a day when important election returns were coming in—so intense was the interest in the measure before the house. The bill was one with which I was in full sympathy, believing that if it passed over the governor's veto every dollar of the $1,500,000 would be honestly spent among the business men, mechanics and laborers of this city. I was not in sympathy with those who objected to the bill in the form it came up for final passage. As regards taxation of the bonds I don't hold that to be a labor question. The form that would insure the investment of home capital is unquestionably the best, and knowing how much it would add to the very many advantages which our city already possesses to have plenty of pure water, also, in response to courteous appeals from my colleagues and my own personal feeling, I forwarded a dispatch which was read by Hon. W. B. Gilbert, in his admirable address delivered on that day in support of the bill, and for that address I take this opportunity of thanking him. That dispatch was from me as a representative of labor, and not by authority of any union or the Federated Trades Assembly. It bore my own signature. At a meeting of the assembly since, I stated there what I did, and there and in this city no person has assailed me for that act. Yesterday, however, I received the following communication, which I will endeavor to answer, leaving out reference to legislators as much as possible, from a trades union or labor standpoint:

SALEM, Feb. 12, 7:45 P. M.

Mr. John O'Brien, President Federated Trades, Portland, Or.—Sir: I beg leave to call your attention to the fact that I have not seen nor heard of any of your unions advocating a law to protect laboring men in public works. Now is your time if you are sincere in protecting labor in all its branches, but you have not thought it worth while to trouble yourself about the poor common laborer. I judge you so by the action of your representatives from Portland, each and every one of them are enemies to any measure that may be introduced in either house to protect labor. The only friends [illegible] are Mr. Irvine, [illegible] Mr. Miller of Jackson county, and our gallant [illegible] Mr. Geer, Marion county. Out of the whole number only [illegible] members are working in the interest of labor—the Portland delegation fighting against them. How is it that you are silent? Are you too [illegible] lovers to THE OREGONIAN? Your dispatch to Thompson yesterday, advocating the passage of the Bull Run water bill, has [illegible] against labor unions. I am sorry that you should advocate such a thieving measure that would give employment to Chinese in preference to whites. Where was the provision in that thieving bill to prohibit Chinese being employed in the construction of the Bull Run water works? Thank God we have a governor who watches those thieving bills, whom each and every labor union should uphold as being the true friend of labor. Do you remember how he got the laborers paid at Corvallis? Why did you select the biggest enemy to labor in the house (Thompson) to forward your dispatch to? Don't be so fast. Look ahead before you bring yourself in contempt. Hope this will be accepted in a friendly spirit [illegible]. As I am here I have the advantage of you to know our enemies and our friends. I hope you will call a special meeting of your unions in advocacy of the Irvine bill in the senate, No. 61, but remember the Portland delegation are our worst enemies.

Respectfully, M. H. O'CONNOR.

In reply to the charge that our unions never advocated a law to protect laboring men on public works, I have only to call his attention to the report of an open meeting held February 1, 1889, in the hall of the Federated Trades. The object of the meeting was to urge legislation to protect wage earners. On page 7 of THE DAILY OREGONIAN of February 3 a report of that meeting may be found. John M. Bowers of this city delivered a carefully prepared address. He said: "The law should be so comprehensive as to include all the farm laborers, the kitchen servant, the sewing girl, the laborer as well as the skilled and scientific workman, extending the lien to machinery, etc., enumerating property subject to liens. I would make subject to a lien for thirty days wages in preference to all other claims."

We hope to accomplish this in the next legislature through pledges from candidates. It would cost us $300 to prepare bills to cover everything we want and we don't know how much labor it will require to bring it about, but we do not intend to make radical changes or disturb the established order of things, and we hope the Multnomah delegation will respond to the support of Myers' bill to protect contractors, sub-contractors and laborers in their claims against railroad companies, or Irvine's senate bill No. 61.

As regards the Multnomah delegation being enemies to labor, I wish Mr. O'Connor would point out instances where any of them oppressed labor or denied its rights. The only remedy there is now on our statute of which he complains is the lien law, which was framed by Hon. Joseph Simon, president of the senate. There is not a member of the present delegation in debt to me for a vote. Inside and outside of labor unions I cheerfully submit to the will of the majority. They are smart men of business—they know what they want and how to get it. Labor men should profit by their example. I don't intend to be discourteous to the men who represent us at Salem—who else should I send the dispatch to but to a member of our delegation?

In regard to being slaves to THE OREGONIAN: That paper is run by a solvent company. It pays out weekly to Union printers over $1000. We have nothing whatever to do with the policy of the paper. He who gives out the most work at fair wages is the greatest friend of the workingman, and he who in the face of the fight changes front and goes to the rear after being so near the goal is no hero. The governor was consistent; we expected he would veto the bill.

I blame those for its defeat who made it a party measure and threw the fate of the bill into a caucus. I think it a poor way to remedy the failings of the present law on assessment and taxation by opposing bills of this character. I see no difference between $10,000 raised to build a school house or courthouse in this manner than to raise $1,500,000—a sum that would do so much for the city and county as well.

Mr. O'Connor's grief over my advocating "such a thieving measure, by reason of giving employment to Chinese in preference to whites," is as devoid of truth as regards facts as is every other statement [illegible]. It is my time now to hold [illegible]. "Don't be so fast!" In the "General Conditions" for specifications of works for the water supply for the city of Portland I find the following:

"No Chinese or Mongolian labor will be allowed in any work enumerated in these specifications, on penalty of forfeiture of the contract, at the option of the water committee."

No complaint has been handed to any of our unions from any quarter regarding the employment of Chinese. The committee, in laying nearly thirty miles of pipe, have given employment to white men. There are now employed about fifty men in this kind of work, which number will be increased next month, as I am reliably informed. But this is a mere bagatelle to what we have lost by reason of the failure of the bill to pass.

As to bringing myself into contempt, or those I represent, or making enemies to trades unions: What the unions have won here they have done themselves. We owe no officeholder, save those who have sprung from the ranks, anything. We have won everything we gained ourselves, and in our unions, local and national, is centered all our hopes for the amelioration of the hardships of the laborer. For the support of those who patronize union labor we are grateful. No, I cannot call a special meeting. It is not necessary. We are already pledged to such measures. I am personally acquainted with Hon. Robert Irvine. I have worked for him as a harvest hand. He treated me well, paid my wages when due. I earned the wages. I got as good wages and treatment from his neighbors who laid no claim to be champions of labor. I am glad to learn that he is our champion, but why did you not ask me courteously, like a brother, to give the same support to that bill that I gave to the water bill? Hon. Robert Irvine has the Santiam ditch that supplies Albany with water, the finest in the world, running through his farm. Why did he [illegible] support an abstract inoperative theory, purely speculative, deny the citizens of Portland, East Portland and Albina with equally good water and deprive working men the privilege of earning $1,500,000? He might as well in my opinion try to clean a field full of thistles by cutting the largest ones, as to remedy the defects of the present assessment law by voting down the Bull Run water bill.

CAPTAIN JOHN O'BRIEN.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 1, O. N. G.

Allowance For Uniforms—Target Practice Proxies—Case of Captain H. Cook

The following extracts from the proceedings of the State Military Board at the regular meeting held January 15, 1889, are published for the information and guidance of the Oregon National Guard:

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,
PORTLAND, OREGON, February 6th, 1889.
[General Orders No. 1.]

I. Allowance for uniforms will be audited at the rate of seven dollars and sixty five cents ($7.65) per uniform for the actual number of uniforms purchased, less the amount already received from the state. Companies receiving such balance on account of uniforms will relinquish all claims to such uniforms and they will be accounted for as state property on the quarterly return of state property.

II. Under section 48 of the militia law of this state the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars will be audited for target practice or [illegible] to each regiment, this amount to be expended under the direction of the colonels commanding the regiments.

III. The question of proxies at the meeting of company officers for the election of field officers having been presented to the board, it was the opinion of the board that such proxies may be held by any officer of the Oregon National Guard, since it is almost an impossibility for all company officers to be present, and such proxies are supposed to vote the choice of officers who they represent.

IV. The board having considered the case of Captain H. Cook, who had been [illegible], it appearing [illegible] from reports of some of the members of the court who tried him that Captain Cook had an honorable record as a soldier previous to the time of his trial by court martial; that he had already been punished sufficiently for the offense of which he was convicted, the board therefore recommend that the governor of the state do what he can under the law to remove the disabilities which now exist in consequence of the sentence of the court.

By order of the commander-in-chief.

THE MARCH OF PROGRESS!

OUR LATEST IMPROVEMENTS!

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is or how hard our competitors have to work to keep within sight of us. Ask your retailers for the James Means $3 Shoe, or the James Means $4 Shoe, according to your needs.

Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist, some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.

MADE ALSO IN BUTTON & CONGRESS
JAMES MEANS'
$3 SHOE
UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.
JAMES MEANS'
SEAMLESS $3 SHOE
JAMES MEANS'
$4 SHOE
CANNOT FAIL TO SATISFY THE MOST FASTIDIOUS
MADE ALSO IN LACE & BUTTON
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means $4 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 Shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

One of our traveling salesmen who recently visited the shoe retailers of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain Region writes from there as follows:

"I am more than satisfied with the results of my trip. I have thus far succeeded in placing our full lines in the hands of A No. 1 dealers in every point I have visited." He goes on to say: "This is a splendid region for us to sell shoes in, because most of the retailers are charging their customers at retail about double the prices which the shoes have cost at wholesale. The consequence is that the people who wear shoes are paying six or seven dollars a pair for shoes which are not worth as much as our JAMES MEANS' $3 and $4 SHOES. Our shoes with their very low retail prices stamped on the soles of every pair are breaking down the high prices which have hitherto ruled in the retail markets here, and when a retailer puts a full line of our goods in his stock they at once begin to go off like hot cakes, so great is the demand for them."

Now, kind reader, just stop and consider what the above signifies so far as you are concerned. It assures you that if you keep on buying shoes bearing no manufacturers' name or fixed retail price stamped on the soles, you cannot tell what you are getting and your retailer is probably making you pay double what your shoes have cost him. Now, can you afford to do this while we are protecting you by stamping our name and the fixed retail price upon the soles of our shoes before they leave our factory, so that you cannot be made to pay more for your shoes than they are worth?

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide-awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

A DISINGENUOUS PROTEST.

The effort from Astoria to prevent the passage of the pilotage bill and acceptance of the proposed schedule as to towage, by asserting that it would be ruinous to the lumber interest of that place, was a disingenuous and shallow expedient. It was asserted that under the proposed schedule the sawmills of the lower river would be obliged to pay an average rate of 70 cents per thousand feet on lumber,—that is, on towage of lumber vessels,—while Flavel's old rates were 40 to 50 cents. The fact is the towage on coastwise lumber vessels is now 50 cents per thousand feet, and the rates offered in the proposition of the O. R. & N. Company in connection with the Northup bill would greatly reduce the charges on foreign-bound lumber vessels from those in force now. Most of the lumber shipped from the Columbia river is shipped to coast ports, however, and the proposed schedule of the O. R. & N. would not apply to coasting vessels.

The standing rate made by the O. R. & N. for towing coastwise vessels, engaged in the lumber trade, from sea to Astoria or Knappton and return to sea, is 50 cents per thousand feet of lumber. The new schedule will not disturb this rate; but it will give a much lower rate to foreign-bound vessels than now prevails. The residents of Astoria who made the protest against the bill and proposed schedule knew this perfectly well; hence it is proper to characterize their protest as a disingenuous and shallow expedient, a mere subterfuge, to prevent, if possible, reduction of pilot rates.

Since the rates charged by Captain Flavel are spoken of, it is proper to remind all whom it may concern that Captain Flavel, a resident of Astoria, made a vast fortune and became one of the millionaires of Oregon, by controlling the rates of service and monopolizing the business at the mouth of the Columbia river during many years; and further, that his great fortune was accumulated by charges upon shipping, from two to four times greater than those which will prevail after the Northup bill and the proposed schedule of charges go into effect. Captain Flavel had his opportunity to make money and made it; he made it honestly, as the world goes, and yet his charges were a grievous burden upon the producers of the country. It was a scale of charges that was sure to drive commerce from the Columbia river, just as soon as commerce could take other directions. Some months ago great reductions from Flavel's charges were made by his successors in the business; other great reductions are now proposed, and the objections of an interested few at Astoria should not prevail against the interests of the producers of the country.

THE DEPARTING GUEST.

President Cleveland has but a few days left of his official term. Within this short interval it is not impossible that he may increase his unpopularity, but it is safe to say that he will not win any glory. Probably no man ever left the White house with fewer friends than Cleveland. He has been an industrious, plodding creature, doing a deal of work with his own hands that a man of brains always turns over to subordinates, but Cleveland belongs to that large class of men who suffer from enormous chronic self-esteem. They think that the trivial, common place, perfunctory part of their public duties cannot be done by anybody but themselves. This is Cleveland. He has spent hours at his desk over matters that a bright man would instantly turn over to a subordinate in some of the departments to report upon, and then read and revise his report. As a rule these men of enormous self-esteem, who think that nobody can groom their horse or drive him equal to themselves, are fellows of small mental calibre, but not always. Sam Bowles, of the Springfield Republican, is reported to have broken his health down from an insane conviction that nobody in the office could be trusted to correct a galley of proof but himself. He was always doing some act of pure drudgery, under the absurd impression that nothing could be done right unless he did it. Finally his health gave way, and he was obliged to let other people do his drudgery, but he probably died with the apprehension that the Springfield Republican would be ruined because he, Bowles, had gone to a place where there are many editors, let us hope, but no newspapers. Bowles was a bright illustration of this morbid self-esteem; and Cleveland is a very dull and heavy exponent of it. He has treated his cabinet as a mere clump of clerks, and it is clearly evident that for the stupid conduct of our foreign policy, and for the reckless tariff position taken in his message, Cleveland himself is responsible. The man is large, apathetic, obese, thick-skinned, nonimaginative, laborious, phlegmatic, abnormally egoistic, and he has from the start treated the presidency as a private pocket-piece rather than a public trust. His conduct might do, if a man had the intellect of Napoleon, Frederick, Cromwell or Bismarck, but an intellectual pigmy can not fool with the methods of a giant.

It is safe to say that if Cleveland had from the start correctly measured himself as a political accident, and taken counsel generally with the legitimate leaders of his party, he would have been re-elected, but he acted as if he was an autocrat, with the powers of an autocrat. His messages were written in the dogmatic tone of a Russian ukase, and the result was that the nation declined to re-elect the autocrat. His future is a curious question. It can not be possible that he seriously intends to devote himself to the practice of the law in New York City for the rest of his days. He is a tenacious and a pugnacious man, and he probably means, like Andy Johnson, to get back into politics.

And it is quite likely he will succeed. He has money enough to buy the nomination in a democratic "down-town" district where the place is always for sale, and we look for Cleveland's election to congress at the first opportunity. He loses nothing by going to congress, for he can point to John Quincy Adams as a precedent. He would not sustain himself in congress, as did Adams, because he lacks the very quality in which Adams always excelled—he has not the intellect or equipment of a debater. Adams was a cold man, but he had a very quick, nervous, aggressive intellect; he was, for his day, a great scholar, possessed of all the political and historical learning of his time. If not an eloquent man he was a most powerful debater, a man of wit, satire, irony and inexhaustible repartee. Cleveland is a mere intellectual slug, compared with the serpent wisdom of Adams. Sent to either house of congress, Cleveland would be a mere dummy alongside such able extemporaneous talkers as Edmunds, Sherman, Hawley, Hoar, Reed, McKinley and Butterworth. Cleveland's career is over for all honor he can do himself. He has been lucky thus far; his luck has been exhausted, and he is likely to be remembered in private life as the most commonplace man that ever became president of the United States. Other men of no more absolute intellect have been elected to this great office, but they all had some quality of personal geniality, culture and good breeding that helped to render them tolerable chief magistrates; but Cleveland has been absolutely a non-sympathetic, dull, pachydermatous person, whom nobody will name hereafter because they loved him, whom nobody will write about with a purpose of praise.

There is a good deal of confidence among supporters of the Portland water bill that the measure this time will be carried over the governor's veto. It begins to be more apparent even to those who have opposed this bill that the bill stands for a principle and a policy that will be of great importance in the future to all parts of the state. As time goes on it will become necessary to use the public credit more and more, not only in Portland but in all municipalities, to accomplish public objects. Hence it becomes important that a precedent be made that will establish a sound and rational principle for all cases of the kind. It must be the final judgment of the people that it is wasteful and unwise to burden the credit of a community by proposing to tax it,—the more so since there is no possibility of collecting any tax. Experience supports argument as against so erroneous a policy, and if the Portland water bill shall be carried over the veto the attempt to tax the credit of municipalities will never be renewed in this state.

FALSEHOOD AND FAILURE.

The Methodist Episcopal Church South has a very unpleasant habit of not telling the truth. This fact is emphasized in a late issue of the Benton Leader, in dissection of a document that was distributed recently among the members of the legislature. The document carried also a statement from Hon. George H. Williams, their attorney, made, of course, on the authority of that church. In this statement Judge Williams asserted that it was an error to say (as THE OREGONIAN for one has said), that the Church South had lost not a dollar or dollar's worth by the action of the state in controlling the school at Corvallis. This document goes on to say: "The missionary board of said church appropriated $1600 towards constructing a chapel for said college." The Leader says: "The truth is, this chapel is built upon ground owned by the M. E. Church South, the legal title to which is not in Corvallis college or its trustees. Neither the land nor the chapel is claimed by anybody but the church."

Judge Williams asserts that the church has paid $1800 interest on the mortgage on the college farm, given for the balance of the purchase money unpaid at the time of the purchase. "The truth is," says the Leader, "that the farm, instead of being used for a college farm, in connection with and for the purpose of the agricultural college, has been yearly rented to another person, and the rental money, which has at least equalled the interest on the mortgage, has been turned into the general fund of the Corvallis college, and at least once was reported to the conference of said church as receipts of the college." The church collected the rent of the college farm and paid the interest therewith; what pretense can they make that the church is any way loser thereby?

Another false statement, and one that is so easily refuted that it seems strange that any one should be so weak as to use it, is that the M. E. Church South, within the last year, paid off this mortgage and the accrued interest, amounting to nearly as much as the farm cost originally. On the 22d day of June, 1888, Corvallis college drew from the treasury of the state of Oregon, at Salem, out of the Agricultural college fund, the sum of $2500, appropriated for the purpose of sustaining the college and paying salaries of officers. The state board, newly appointed, had not then assumed control. The mortgage in question was wholly paid out of the money so drawn. This mortgage was therefore paid out of funds of the Agricultural college that belong to the people of Oregon. This looks like a misappropriation of funds, for certainly the state never contemplated that the college funds should be diverted to such a purpose.

It is a singular fact that the church now says the resolutions passed at Dayton, W. T., positively commanding the board of regents to ask the state legislature to dissolve the contract existing between the regents of Corvallis Agricultural college, and the state of Oregon, were not binding, but otherwise holds that conference to have been duly constituted and all its other numerous acts competent. The board of regents followed explicit orders and the contract was dissolved. There is certainly a touch of "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" in this same M. E. Church South!

Mr. M. Jacobs, of Corvallis, is and has long been treasurer of Corvallis college, and being interviewed says there were two mortgages. The Leader prints his reply in full and shows that the treasurer of the church board contradicts the statement of the attorney of that board. The mortgages amounted to about $3000 and payments were made in the latter part of June, 1888, before the state board had assumed control of the Agricultural college. The money was drawn by the old, or college board, so their own treasurer testifies against what they made their attorney believe.

This exposure brings up rather an important fact, namely, that the college farm was never used for agricultural experiments, but was rented out to the highest bidder for cash. There was no practical teaching of agriculture and the mechanic arts. Under these conditions was the contract of the church legally carried out, or has failure of performance not had the effect to forfeit all their rights in the matter?

There has been a good deal of this matter, and at last the tergiversations of this church body have reached a point where the community must feel disgust beyond measure. The supreme court has granted a rehearing and it is to be hoped this tribunal will, by next Tuesday, have secured all facts bearing on the case and understand every important feature so thoroughly that they can see some way to relieve the Agricultural college of its incubus—this old man of the sea that seems determined to ride it to destruction.

The recent street-car strike in New York lasted eight days. It cost the men $100,000 in loss of wages, and the companies an aggregate of $240,000 in various ways. But few, comparatively, of the old men were re-employed, preference being given to the new ones who enabled the companies to resume traffic; hence the financial loss to the strikers is but faintly represented even by the large sum named, as they must take their turn on the list and be employed only when vacancies occur. The lesson is relatively far more costly to labor than to capital, and its result is a defeat to the Knights of Labor equal to that which the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers suffered in its contest with the C. B. & Q. last spring.

Schools and colleges are being established in China for teaching modern science, and their application to human industry. The Chinese coast has been provided with the best lighthouse service in the world. Thousands of miles of telegraph are in course of erection. Work has been begun on a vast railroad system and the internal water routes are in course of improvement and enlargement. Great arsenals have been built, and an army of a million of men has been equipped with the best European arms and drilled according to the latest European tactics. The navy includes twenty-six men-of-war and more than 100 gunboats, all of modern design.

To put an end to the twaddle about "the irregularity in the electoral vote of Oregon" it should be stated that there was no irregularity. S. W. McDowell, an insane man of Oregon, who claims to be elected to one office or another whenever an election is held, sent on to Senator Ingalls, president of the senate, a document purporting to be a return of the electoral vote of Oregon. Ingalls did not know the man was insane, and submitted the paper to the joint assembly of the houses. From this the talk has arisen about an "irregularity." There was no imperfection whatever in the return of the electoral vote of Oregon. At different times McDowell has claimed to have been elected governor, representative in congress, senator, judge, member of the legislature, etc., etc., and very probably when Senator Dolph appears on the 4th of March to take the oath for his next term, it will be found that McDowell has on file a claim for the seat.

The New York legislature is considering a crazy bill to establish four schools to give free instruction to young men and women in the arts of milking cows, making butter and cheese and managing a dairy. This bill provides for a state dairy commissioner and assistant state dairy commissioner, to be experts in the science of chemistry and to manage all the state dairy farms. The bill authorizes the head dairy commissioner to hire four great farms in different parts of the state, to fully stock them with cows, to erect necessary buildings and to purchase "suitable" dairy machinery and implements. There doesn't seem to be any crazy scheme of state education left to be adopted except a training school for nurses both wet and dry.

One important bill for relief of the commerce of the Columbia river, namely, the pilot bill, has passed both houses. Another important bill looking also to relief of commerce, namely, the bill to prevent extortion of "blood-money" by those who traffic in sailors, or, in other words, to suppress Jimturkism on the river, ought to be hurried up.

Mr. Cleveland, it is said, is very earnest in predicting a great future for the democracy. It is evident, if his predictions are to be verified, that future party leaders will have to discover a more effective key to the popular approval than Mr. Cleveland possessed.

A ROAD SEEMS ASSURED.—The Oregon
terprise states that it is informed by H
Thompson that the Portland & Vanco way Company is ready to extend its mo
Oregon City if the right of way can be without cost to the company. The Ente states that Mr. Wm. Reid wants to conn
City with a branch of the Portland & W
Valley railway, "and proposes if prope ments are held out to connect by way lake and the Tualatin through a pass t side." It seems at first glance a roundab but it is not much out of the way after a

HE SECURED HIS COIN.—Yesterday a C put in an appearance at the Commercial bank, with a few pieces of charred pape lapidated tin box. He stated that his Shoalwater bay had been burned a da since and that the charred paper was al mained of a certificate of deposit on the $100. By the use of a microscope and a l tience the certificate was identified and t man secured his coin and went on his w ing. When next he deposits his money f he will want a cast-iron certificate so as danger from fire.

VERY SLIGHT BLAZE.—The alarm from noon yesterday was for a fire in the office
Oregon Immigration Company, a roug shanty at the side of the roadway leading coal bunkers, near the steamship dock. M
Wallace, book-keeper, who occupies the o gone to his luncheon, and in some way t took fire from the stove. The inside of th was completely charred. Mr. Wallace had his ledger and cash book in the safe befo out, so the loss was trifling. Hose Compa
I were soon on the ground and quickl guised the fire.

THREE BLOODED DOGS.—Yesterday as GONIAN reporter entered the office
Merchant's Exchange he found quite an in audience watching the antics of J. M. Cu two skye terriers and Mr. Leahy's Scottis herd. They are very intelligent animals, sagacity they exhibited in trying to circ
each other in playing about the room, that "man's most faithful friend," in this
at least, had a good deal of canine instin

SOME OTHER EXHIBITION.—The vacant
Morrison street between Second and Thir has been occupied by a great variety of sh ing the past year. The horse with the abn long mane and tail, the monster ox, the legged horse, the black and grizzly be greatest collection of living curiosities,

GREAT VIOLINIST COMING.—Mr. Robert son, manager of the Musin Grand Concer bination, is in the city making arrangeme
the early appearance at New Park Theatr company. Mons Ovide Musin and his co will appear in Portland March 18 and 1 company, besides the great violinist, will of Mme. Annie Louise Tanner, prima don Whitney Mockridge, tenor, Edwin M. S pianist.

PARALYSIS OF THE BRAIN.—Last Sund
liam Brown, a well-known colored man, eral years a night inspector of customs, r to this city from Tacoma. Shortly after h val he was found wandering about Fourt
in a dazed condition. He was taken to th Samaritan hospital, where it was found was suffering from paralysis of the brain, is in a very critical condition.

RETIRED FROM BUSINESS.—Mr. William M

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

Deposed From the Ministry.—The trial of J. H. Flenner by the Methodist Episcopal judicial conference terminated Thursday evening at the Taylor-street Methodist Episcopal church with the action of the Idaho conference being sustained. The above-named gentleman was arraigned a few months ago on several charges, chief among which were the accusations of falsehood and misappropriation of church funds. He was found guilty and appealed to a higher tribunal composed of twenty-one ministers from the three adjoining conferences and presided over by Bishop Warren of Denver, Colo. This latter trier of appeals so to speak, has ended its session with the previously mentioned result. According to the testimony of several ministers, Mr. Flenner has always been considered a good minister and an upright man, but appeared to be utterly incapable of judiciously expending money. He would run into debt with a reckless disregard as to results, and when the money became due he was compelled to resort to some method by which to extricate himself from the dilemma. He has been found guilty of serious charges and has accordingly been deposed from the ministry.

Bridge Roadway Opened.—The invitation extended by the lessees of the wagon roadway over the steel bridge to the public to attend the opening of the roadway yesterday was taken advantage of by large numbers of the citizens from both sides of the river. Thousands strolled across the bridge during the afternoon, many lingering to admire the fine view of the river, shipping and heights west of the city. The fire near the bridge at noontime attracted a large number of people, most of whom took occasion to walk across the bridge. During the fire the railing on the upper side of the bridge and approaches was lined with people, and it is doubtful if so many are collected on the bridge again for a long time. It would have been a good time to take a photograph of the bridge. The people on the East Side are anxiously awaiting the commencement of the street car service across the bridge, which will be a great convenience to the residents of Holladay's addition and vicinity.

Fifth Story Completed.—The entire fifth story of the big hotel will be completed to-day. The joists for the floor and the frames for the bay windows of the south division of the sixth story are all in place, and work will be commenced on it Monday. Most extraordinary progress has been made on the building owing to the fine weather. Mr. Langford, the contractor, says he never supposed that he could get up more than two stories during the winter, and now he hopes to have everything in readiness for putting on the roof in about two weeks. The end walls of the north and south divisions of the sixth story will be set back several feet to form a recess for balconies, and strong iron girders will be placed across each end of the fifth story to support the wall above. From the floor of the fifth story an extensive view is afforded, and when another story is on the balconies will afford a view of a large extent of beauty.

She Wants Her Son.—A few days ago the rector of the Episcopal church of this city received a letter from a woman in a small town in Southern Virginia in which she makes inquiry regarding the whereabouts of her lost boy Charles. The woman, who signs her name Mrs. W. W. Wilkinson, writes that her boy was in this city on the 12th of October. Under that date she received a letter from him in which he stated that he was about to leave for the mines in Colorado to join his brother. Since that time she has not heard from him, although she has made diligent inquiry both of the authorities in this city and at the mines in Colorado. Eight weeks ago, she says, she wrote to the postmaster of Portland, but has as yet received no reply, and she now fears that her son has met with a tragic fate. The letter has been turned over to the police authorities, who will assist the woman in finding her son should he still be in the city.

Promises to Make It Warm.—Morris Johnson promises to make it warm for somebody, as soon as he can locate the real instigator of his arrest and imprisonment. "I never put a straw in any man's way," he said yesterday, "and I cannot believe but what there is a motive in some quarter for this groundless persecution." He considers his discharge as very inadequate compensation for the aspersions made upon his name and the $400 or $500 expense thus forced upon him. "The last dollar I can make in this world," he said, "if it were a million, I shall cheerfully devote to hunting down the person who has done me this wrong. I have handled thousands for other men which I could with impunity have appropriated. I never thought to be accused of killing a man for a watch and chain."

The Cable Road Situation.—The stockholders' meeting of the Cable Road Company, which is called for Monday, will be asked by the directors to increase the institution's capital stock from $150,000 to $250,000. It is said that this step is all that is necessary in order that San Francisco capital may feel justified in taking the bonds and thus enable the road to be pushed to completion. Little or no opposition is expected on the part of the stockholders. One of the directors stated to a reporter yesterday that before Mr. Lynch left he had secured subscriptions, almost wholly among the directors, for $75,000 of the $100,000, and $10,000 on the outside. Also that ample assurance existed of the balance being shortly forthcoming.

That Free Bathhouse.—The projectors of this laudable undertaking have called another meeting, at which it is hoped their various timepieces will be near enough together to allow of more than one being there at one time. The plans of the proposed building are already in the architect's hands and cover considerable space. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the office of Mr. T. A. Stephens, and he says it does not mean 8:30 or 9. The number of interested parties has been increased since last fall, and hopes are entertained that the building can be put forward to be opened in time for the earliest bathers.

A Road Seems Assured.—The Oregon City Enterprise states that it is informed by Hon. D. P. Thompson that the Portland & Vancouver Railway Company is ready to extend its motor line to Oregon City if the right of way can be obtained without cost to the company. The Enterprise also states that Mr. Wm. Reid wants to connect Oregon City with a branch of the Portland & Willamette Valley railway, "and proposes if proper inducements are held out to come in by way of Sucker lake and the Tualatin through a pass to the west side. It seems at first glance a roundabout way, but it is not much out of the way after all."

The Singing Flowers.—The esthetic concert, which will be given to-night at the Academy hall, corner of Eighteenth and C streets, will be the most brilliant social event of the gay social season just drawing to a close. Everything is in readiness: the flower-screen is set in place, and on an impromptu stage built. The effect of the faces peering from the centers of flowers on the handsome screen is said to be indescribably fascinating. Every one should go and see the very latest novelty in the way of amateur entertainments. The proceeds of the affair are to be given to Bishop Morris, to be used for the Good Samaritan hospital.

He Secured His Coin.—Yesterday a Chinaman put in an appearance at the Commercial National bank, with a few pieces of charred paper in a dilapidated tin box. He stated that his cabin at Shoalwater bay had been burned a day or two since and that the charred paper was all that remained of a certificate of deposit on the bank for $100. By the use of a microscope and a lot of patience the certificate was identified and the Chinaman secured his coin and went on his way rejoicing. When next he deposits his money in a bank he will want a cast-iron certificate so as to avoid danger from fire.

Very Slight Blaze.—The alarm from box 16 at noon yesterday was for a fire in the office of the Oregon Immigration Company, a rough board shanty at the side of the roadway leading to the coal bunkers, near the steamship dock. Mr. W. T. Wallace, book-keeper, who occupies the office, had gone to his luncheon, and in some way the place took fire from the stove. The inside of the shanty was completely charred. Mr. Wallace had placed his ledger and cash book in the safe before going out, so the loss was trifling. Hose Company No. 1 were soon on the ground and quickly extinguished the fire.

Three Blooded Dogs.—Yesterday as an Oregonian reporter entered the office of the Merchant's Exchange he found quite an interested audience watching the antics of J. M. Campbell's two skye terriers and Mr. Leahy's Scottish shepherd. They are very intelligent animals, and the sagacity they exhibited in trying to circumvent each other in playing about the room, showed that "man's most faithful friend," in this instance at least, had a good deal of canine instinct. The pup belonging to Mr. Leahy is an exceedingly beautiful dog, and will no doubt develop into a noble animal.

Some Other Exhibition.—The vacant lot on Morrison street between Second and Third streets has been occupied by a great variety of shows during the past year. The horse with the abnormally long mane and tail, the monster ox, the three-legged horse, the black and grizzly bears, the greatest collection of living curiosities, and the disgusting anatomical museum took their turns at exhibiting there. Now the lot is being floored and a tent is to be erected there, probably for some new exhibition.

Great Violinist Coming.—Mr. Robert E. Johnson, manager of the Musin Grand Concert Combination, is in the city making arrangements for the early appearance at New Park Theater of the company. Mons Ovide Musin and his company will appear in Portland March 18 and 19. The company, besides the great violinist, will consist of Mme. Annie Louise Tanner, prima donna, Mr. Whitney Mackridge, tenor, Edwin M. Shonert, pianist.

Paralysis of the Brain.—Last Sunday William Brown, a well-known colored man, for several years a night inspector of customs, returned to this city from Tacoma. Shortly after his arrival he was found wandering about Fourth street in a dazed condition. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from paralysis of the brain, and he is in a very critical condition.

Retired From Business.—Mr. William McGuire has disposed of his interest in the well-known California Market, corner of Third and Morrison streets, to his partner, Mr. F. C. Barnes. In retiring from the business, Mr. McGuire wishes to return his sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage bestowed on the firm, and asks that a continuance thereof be extended to his successor.

Just Received.—The spring styles in Youmans' silk hats at Kohn's, Second and Morrison streets.

Buy Cut Flowers at Burkhardt Bros., florists, Twenty-second and G.

Lydia Thompson Coming.—Mr. M. F. Falk, representing the Lydia Thompson Company, is now in the city making arrangements for the appearance here of that great burlesque company. The company will commence the season Friday evening, February 22. The engagement will last for only one week. The press speaks in terms of unqualified praise of the company.

Death of Edward Handley.—Edward Handley, aged 23, son of Mr. Daniel Handley, of The Dalles, died yesterday of consumption, at Denver, where he had gone some four months since in hope that a change of climate would improve his health. He was a young man of great promise and had studied law with Hon. W. Lair Hill, and bid fair to attain a high rank in his profession.

Visiting Portland.—Mr. and Mrs. Witmer, of Helena, Montana, were guests the past week of Mrs. Rev. L. Kelsey. Mr. Witmer is a prominent business man in Helena and is taking a view of this coast. They were so pleased with Portland that they invested in Albina, and will make more investments there. They left for a visit to California yesterday.

In Gotham.—S. C. Beckwith, writing from New York under date of February 9, says: We had a call to-day from Mr. A. Roffling, of Borquist & Roffling, of your city. Also calls from Dr. A. I. Nicklin and wife. They arrived on Tuesday. Mrs. Nicklin is visiting her old home. They expect to be present at the inauguration at Washington March 4.

A. D. T. Man en Route.—Mr. J. B. Gill, of San Francisco, is in the city for a few days, prior to his departure for a tour of the Sound. Mr. Gill is an extensive stockholder in district telegraph companies, and has a system of his own. His present mission is prospecting for a suitable location to establish a district telegraph system.

Chance for a Bargain.—The adjourned sale of that very desirable three acres of land adjacent to East Portland and known as the Waud tract, will take place this (Saturday) forenoon at 11 o'clock, at the courthouse. Persons wishing to make a profitable investment are invited to be present.

A Large Drove of Sheep.—L. B. Frazier, an enterprising citizen from Polk county, yesterday brought a fine band of sheep to this city, preparatory to sending them to an extensive dealer named R. James, at Victoria. There were 400 in the band with an average weight of 125 pounds.

School Census.—The census taken by Mr. H. A. Harding, school clerk of district No. 62, Oregon City, shows that there are 252 male and 274 female children in the district between the ages of 4 and 20 years, making a total of 526, and showing an increase of fifty within the year.—Enterprise.

Sad News.—Mr. D. C. Bogart, the venerable crier in department No. 2, circuit court, has received a letter from Inglewood, N. J., informing him that his brother-in-law, Jacob Louzier, 60 years of age, was instantly killed by being struck in the back by a locomotive a few days ago.

Lecture by Bishop Warren.—A lecture, entitled, "A Summer Beyond the Sea, Including Alp Climbing," will be given by Bishop Warren, D. D., LL. D., for the benefit of the Portland hospital, Monday evening, February 18, at Taylor street M. E. church.

Changing Around.—Those who take note of the bargains advertised will observe that this column is not filled with stereotyped matter when used by J. Selling & Co. To-day regular $5 French kid shoes for $3 90.

The County Map.—Mr. R. A. Habersham may be seen almost any day working upon the first draft of his large county map. It is progressing nicely, and promises to be handsome as well as accurate.

To-Day Ends the Second Week of the great carpet sale of the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Co. This sale includes their entire stock of carpets and curtains.

At Albina.—The Rev. Mr. Loveridge will be the preacher at the Episcopal service in the Scandinavian M. E. church, Russell street, Albina, Sunday afternoon.

Mothers—Be sure and fix your boys out at Kohn's, corner Second and Morrison streets. All wool short pants at 95 cents, and suits at $2 50 each.

Don't Forget to go to Kohn's to-day and buy the latest styles in neckties just received from New York, at the low price of 25 cents each.

Albany Episcopal Services.—Bishop Morris will officiate in St. Peter's church, Albany, on Sunday the 17th—morning and evening.

For San Francisco.—Steamer Columbia sails to-night at 9 o'clock.

MERIT APPRECIATED.

In these days of close competition in business no manufacturer of staple goods can possibly succeed unless the qualities of his goods are up to the very highest standard. Messrs. James Means & Co.'s shoes have been most favorably known by the public for many years. Their goods certainly could not have won and could not now hold the high reputation which they do if it were not for the fact that they are superior to others in merit. James Means & Co. were the first shoe manufacturers in the country to show their confidence in the merits of their own goods by investing large sums of money in advertising them. We wish to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of James Means' $3 and $4 shoes, which appears on another page of the present issue.

BRIEF MENTION.

SACRAMENTO LEGISLATURE.

The Dilatoriness Continues—Talk of an Extra Session.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—The legislature has now been in session thirty-eight days, and but twenty-two days remain during which members will receive pay. Taking from this time three Sundays and Washington's birthday, which is a non legislative day, but eighteen working days remain.

In all, 1184 bills have been introduced in both houses, not more than fifty of which have been finally passed by either branch. A large number must, therefore, fall from inaction, and yet scarcely a day passes that from five to ten more are not introduced. There is no doubt that all necessary measures can be passed, including the general appropriation and tax levy bills, and yet the members are already talking about the necessity of an extra session. It is stated that, fearing that this sentiment might crystallize into a movement to hold back the appropriation bill and force an extra session, Governor Waterman has, within the past few days, notified the leaders of the senate and assembly that under no circumstances will he call the members again together.

If the legislature neglects to provide money for carrying on the public institutions of the state, it will be responsible to the people and not to him. In such an event, every official would have for two years to be paid in scrip, and the prospect is not one likey to fascinate ambitious politicians.

The governor has signed the bill sending Swift and White to Washington to take charge of the Chae Chang Ping case, in which the constitutionality of the Chinese exclusion act is involved.

The assembly has passed a bill making the office of state printer elective, and the senate committee on printing has agreed to report it favorably. The bill will probably be passed.

An attempt was made to hold a democratic joint caucus last night, in reference to Waterman's refusal to issue commissions to the new state library trustees, but, owing to the session of the assembly, it was a failure, and adjourned without transacting any business.

The senate has passed the McGowan mutual insurance bill by a vote of 27 to 12, and the assembly has reconsidered the Hall anti trust bill by a vote of 47 to 29.

The assembly judiciary committee has agreed to report the Ostrom railroad assessment bill adversely, by a vote of 8 to 7. The committee decided to ask the assembly for permission to meet Saturday at the supreme court at San Francisco, for the purpose of investigating the railroad tax question.

The senate Yosemite valley committee finished its inquiry last night. It will be some days before the report is prepared.

CALIFORNIA CEREAL PROSPECTS.

Much Anxiety Felt Among Farmers on Account of the Drought.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 14—Oregon is certainly fortunate in always having a sufficient rainfall to insure crops. Not so with California. In many parts of the state the farmers are filled with anxiety during the winter and spring, wondering how the seasons will be. In the big grain-growing districts the rainfall is seldom as much as the farmers would like to have it, and therefore small crops are the frequent result.

The following will give an idea of the grain outlook at this writing. During January of this year the rainfall in San Francisco amounted to 1.37 inches, a little more than one-fourth of the average rainfall for January. According to signal service figures, the average for that month is 4 93 inches. Half of February is gone and not a drop of rain has fallen, except that to-night. In the southern part of the state the drought has been less noticeable, as the average January rain fall is less in amount.

The alarm which had been felt concerning the effect of this almost unprecedented spell of dry weather now prevailing, seems to be without foundation. The rains which fell in the earlier part of the season were of such a character that they sank into the ground, and little water was wasted. It all sank into the soil. Most of it still remains there, and everywhere the ground is reported to be moist, notwithstanding the drouth.

The rainfall for the present season to this date, is but little below the average. In some localities it is even above it. Nearly everywhere more than half the average total amount of rain has fallen. Rain may be expected for three months to come yet.

Joe Hawkins, as he is known, shot and fatally wounded Jerry Reen who is sexton of the church at the mission of San Jose and severely wounded John O'Connor, a lumberman, recently from Mendocino county. The two wounded men entered a saloon early this morning. Reen called for a glass of beer, when Hawkins, who was in the saloon, stepped up, and told him he was too fresh. Reen told him to mind his own business, when Hawkins with an oath said "I'll shoot the lungs out of you," and immediately pulled out his pistol and fired indiscriminately. One ball entered the abdomen of Reen, and one the left side, and Surgeon Enright pronounced the wounds fatal. O'Connor was wounded in the arm.

Warren P Morrill who committed suicide in Alameda, yesterday came to California in 1850 with A. A. Sargent, late United States senator and Jerome B Painter. In the early days, he was a partner of Sargent's in the mercantile business. He was also connected with the printing firm of Francis Valentine and Company. Morrill was, also, a cousin of Hon Lot M Morrill, of Maine. He accumulated at one time a fortune of a quarter of a million but lost a great deal of it. His estate is probably worth $30 000. Mr Morrill had been a terrible sufferer from asthma, and had used morphine, under a physician's advice. He finally threw off the bondage of the drug but his sufferings were more than he could endure. The inquest was held to-day.

Shipping Notes

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Word reaches here that the steam schooner Ventura has been bar bound for over seventy days at Tillamook bay. The bar is reported to be completely closed up.

Captain D O Killman, formerly master of the wrecked schooner Julia H Ray who has been suspended since the accident is to take command of the new steamer being built for the salmon fisheries.

Incoming vessels report a deck loaded lumber schooner floating about the ocean forty four miles southwest by south of Point Arena.

The whaling schooners Tamarim Allen Thomas and Ocean will leave for a whaling cruise about March 1. There are at present thirteen whaling schooners in the harbor making final preparations for the northern cruise. The usual trip to the South Pacific will be made first and, after a short stay at Honolulu they will proceed to the north.

The gale, which at one time yesterday blew sixty miles an hour and threatened to do much damage to the shipping, moderated considerably last evening, and this morning a number of vessels which were yesterday prevented from docking, were towed in by the tug companies.

The United States revenue cutter Bear is receiving an overhauling at the Beale street wharf.

A new tug is being built for the Karluk Packing Company at Vallejo. She will be used as tender to the fishing fleet. She has a 64 foot keel 19 foot beam and 8 feet depth of hold. Captain Turner is also building a whaling schooner which he expects to finish for this year's cruise in Behring sea.

G. A. R. Encampment

STOCKTON, Cal, Feb. 15.—At the annual encampment of the G A R to-day, the section of the by laws requiring that the department headquarters be maintained in San Francisco was repealed. The per capita tax was reduced from 20 to 15 cents per quarter. The salaries of the assistant adjutant general and assistant quartermaster were reduced from $2100 to $1800.

A resolution was passed that in the opinion of the encampment the word Union should never be stricken from the applications for admission to the national soldiers homes. Senior Post Department Commander C Mason Kinn of San Francisco installed the newly elected officers and the encampment finally adjourned.

A campfire was had this evening, over 600 veterans being present.

Assassination of Viscount Mori

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—A special telegram from Tokio announces the assassination of Viscount Arinori Mori, minister of education on the 11th instant, the day of the promulgation of the new constitution. Count Mori was one of the most enlightened of Japanese statesmen, was Japanese minister at Washington in 1870, and is the author of several works in English.

A Prominent Writer Assassinated.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—A dispatch from Atlantic and Pacific Junction, New Mexico, says an attempt was made last night to assassinate Charles F Lummis, a well known newspaper man and magazine writer, who has been recuperating in New Mexico during the past year.

Lummis has been active in aid of the movement to punish certain wealthy murderers, and overthrow corrupt and criminal bosses. Frequent threats have been made against him by the ring. Last night about midnight, Lummis stepped outside the door of an adobe room in an Indian village, when a man a few rods distant fired two charges of buckshot in rapid succession, and then ran. One shot struck Lummis in the right cheek, and then passed through into his throat. Another grazed his scalp, and another buried itself in his pocket-book. The assassin escaped.

Wonderful Escape From Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—A special from Lincoln, Neb., says: A peculiar wreck took place at Ashland, on the Burlington, between this city and Omaha, this morning about 4 o'clock. A regular freight was standing on the track, when another freight crashed into the caboose breaking it into kindling wood, ruining the engine and piling several cars on top of each other. There were thirteen men in the caboose at the time all of whom were asleep. One man's nose bled slightly, which was the most serious accident to any of the thirteen.

A Drunken Man's Crime

RED BLUFF, Feb. 15.—C W Davis shot and killed S. P. Bayler, on Paine's creek, last night, while under the influence of liquor. No motive is assigned for the crime. Bayler has a brother living in San Francisco. Davis is an old man, much addicted to drink. He is foreman of a ranch. He remarked after the shooting: "I guess I had better go and kill myself now." Bayler was about 30 years old. Davis had been on a spree in town during the day.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

Memorials from New Mexico

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—President pro tem Ingalls to-day laid before the senate two petitions of the citizens of Albuquerque, N. M., denouncing as misleading and false the allegations contained in the memorial recently presented to the senate, protesting against the admission of the territory as a state.

A memorial from the state legislative council of New Mexico was presented to the senate to-day, relating to the price of public lands in the territory. It speaks of the great quantity of public land in the territory, about one-fourth of the total area, which has been granted to railroads and is held at $2 50 an acre, notwithstanding the fact that no railroad has been built under the grants. Consequently would be immigrants are driven to other territories. The memorialists pray that all public agricultural lands in the territory be opened to settlement at $1 25 per acre, and that the price of coal lands, within fifteen miles of a railroad, be fixed at $10 per acre, and of land farther removed at $5 per acre.

In Behalf of Veterans.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator Voorhees to-day introduced the following as a proposed amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill: Soldiers and sailors in the war of the rebellion who were honorably discharged from the military or naval service of the United States, and the widows and children of deceased soldiers shall be eligible to appointment, transfer and promotion, subject only to such examination as may be prescribed by the head of the department, and without competitive examination.

Northwestern Notes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—David E. B. Mank postmaster at Aumsville, Marion county, Oregon, has resigned and J. S. Swantt has been appointed postmaster in his place.

Delegate Voorhees has presented to the house several petitions of the citizens of Washington Territory praying for admission into the Union of that territory as a state, under the name of Washington. The petitions were referred to the committee on territories.

The Scott Law To Be Sustained

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A justice of the supreme court says that the question involved in the Chae Chang Ping case which was appealed from San Francisco, to test the validity of the Scott exclusion act, has already been decided by the court before, and that there is no doubt that the Scott law will be sustained by the court. He stated that the court had decided two cases last winter involving precisely the same questions.

For the Admission of New Mexico

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Delegate Joseph of New Mexico, to-day introduced a bill to enable the people of that territory to frame a constitution and state government, and to be admitted to the Union on an equal footing with the original states. The bill follows the provisions of the omnibus bill, retaining those features which relate to New Mexico particularly, and to all the territories in common.

Protection at Panama

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The house committee on foreign affairs to-day instructed the chairman to report favorably the senate bill appropriating $250,000 for the protection of American interests and citizens at Panama. In view of the fact that work on the canal ceases to-morrow the committee resolved to make an effort to secure immediate action by the house.

In Favor of Farmers Institutes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A bill introduced by Senator Spooner to-day provides that a system of farmers institutes shall be maintained as a part of the agricultural department, the annual cost of this system of institutes not to exceed $500 000, exclusive of permanent salaries and the printing of the reports of the institute meetings.

100 Doses One Dollar

CONFERENCE OF COLORED MEN.

Resolution Presented to General Harrison Concerning the Attorney-Generalship.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14.—An important conference of colored men was held here to-day. It gathered at the instance of Professor J M Langston. Seven states were represented, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Florida and Missouri, and letters were read from other Southern states. The conference was had with closed doors, and an address to General Harrison was formulated. In substance the address says: That they are a loyal republican party, and reside in the states which, upon a fair election, would give their electoral votes to the republican party by large majorities, but that such undue influences and frauds are brought to bear against the voters that the desire of the republican masses are constantly abated. "We cannot doubt that you agree with us that the fifteenth amendment should be maintained with fairness and vigor, and you desire that such objects shall be accomplished in the interests of even millions of American citizens who to-day in the South are practically disfranchised and whose cause we represent and plead in our present and prospective condition under your administration of government. We are profoundly interested in the construction of your cabinet, especially as concerns the attorney generalship. It is absolutely necessary for the appointment to the position which we name of a man, who, in addition to great learning in law, is free from undue feeling and bias, as becomes one so appointed. Such being our opinion we have ventured to bring it formally and earnestly to your consideration."

During the afternoon it was presented to the general. It was supposed that the conference would oppose the appointment of General Mahone to the cabinet, but nothing of the kind was done.

GENERAL HARRISON'S CALLERS

The general had a number of callers. Among them were Dan McCauley, sr., H J Gosman, Nicaraguan minister at Washington and Milt n B Butler, who was president of the electoral college of Nebraska.

Another distinguished visitor at General Harrison's to-day was Hon. Cassius M. Clay, ex minister to Russia, and second cousin to the famous orator. The venerable gentleman lunched with General Harrison and his family and passed an hour or more in conversation. He said to the correspondents that his visit was entirely social.

TELLER TALKED OF FOR THE INTERIOR.

It is being talked in well informed circles here that Senator Henry M. Teller, of Colorado is slated for the interior department. The information that General Harrison has had Teller's name serious consideration for several weeks comes under from a very reliable and conservative source, and it is asserted with considerable confidence that the tender has actually been made to Mr. Teller.

TO RESTORE THE POSITION OF OUR FLAG

PITTSBURG, Feb. 14.—The committees of the National Shippers and Industrial League passed through here to-night, en route to Indianapolis to present to President-elect Harrison the vigorous demand that the coming administration take steps to restore the American flag to the position it once occupied upon the high seas.

THE RAILROAD PRESIDENTS

Most of Them Have Signed the Interstate Commerce Agreement.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—It now seems probable that the interstate commerce railway association agreement will soon go into effect by having received the signatures of the presidents of roads embraced in the territory covered.

President Hughitt, of the Northwestern road, received advices from Boston this afternoon that President Perkins, of the Burlington road, had finally signed.

President Cable of the Rock Island road, who returned from Colorado yesterday, told an associated press reporter that the agreement had also been signed by the president of the Denver, Texas & Gulf road, formerly the Denver & Fort Worth. If this report is correct, there yet remain to sign only the Burlington & Northern, Illinois Central and Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf, and it is considered probable that the first-named road will follow in the lead of the Chicago & Burlington, and the question of the Illinois Central and Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf is not considered so important. It is definitely understood that the Illinois Central will at any rate, comply with the terms of the agreement.

President Cable is of the opinion that all the roads will eventually sign, as, in his opinion, they could not afford to stay out of the association. The contention of the Burlington & Northern that the Soo and other northern lines must be included, he did not think, would be insisted on, as the association could protect the Burlington & Northern against them, if necessary, by united action, as well as that line could protect itself acting independently.

STEAMSHIP FREIGHT WAR.

The White Star Line Breaks Its Tacit Agreement With the Other Companies

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—In regard to the war between the ocean steamship companies an evening paper says: The first blow has been struck by the White Star Company. It is the same with the steamship lines as it is with railroads. They have had an understanding with each other to maintain high freight rates, but one of the companies has kicked in the traces, and broken the tacit agreement.

The White Star people defend their action by saying that the other lines were cutting rates slyly. The representatives of the Cunard, Anchor, Inman, Guion and National companies are prepared for a fight. If oil is not speedily thrown upon the troubled waters, the public may expect to witness the most bitter warfare that has ever broken out between the transatlantic lines. There is great anxiety on the part of agents on this side the ocean as to action likely to be taken by the heads of the companies on the other side. There are indications that the trouble may extend to the passenger traffic also. In such an event, both cabin and steerage rates would be cut.

WESTERN PACKERS ASSOCIATION

Enthusiastic Meeting at Chicago—The Proposition to Form a Trust Meets With Favor

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—At the morning's session of the Western Packers and Canned Goods Association, much enthusiasm was created by a speech by E S Judge of Baltimore recommending that the association form a trust.

William Boulter, ex president of the Canadian Packers Association, also made a speech attracting particular attention. He wanted free tin plate, but didn't mean by that that he was in any sense in favor of free trade.

After a great deal of discussion it was decided that a committee should be selected to go to Washington and endeavor to have the tariff on tin removed. This is to apply also to cases exported and to all food products encased in tin and intended for home consumption.

The committee having under consideration the question of over production reported that they could devise no adequate means of relief and a resolution was adopted that the association in no way restrict this year's pack.

INDIAN GRIEVANCES

Letter From the Chief of the Mescalleros to the New Mexico Legislature

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 15.—A letter was received by the speaker of the house of representatives this morning which when translated read as follows: The Indian Nautzilla chief of the Mescalleros says to his friend and father that there have come to the Mescalleros reservation some of Geronimo's Indians, and that the Mescalleros are afraid and sad. It makes them sorry that they went to Washington to take away the agent, for allowing Geronimo's Indians to remain on the Mescallero reservation, because they will fight with the Ojos Calientes and Chiricahua if they remain on the reservation and they cannot remain there with Geronimo's Indians and may have to leave their homes on the reservation and then they will have to fight. The letter was written or dictated without any knowledge on the part of Nautzilla or his Indians that the legislature of New Mexico had taken any action on the subject.

THE UNION PACIFIC

President Adams Says the Company Is Not Building a Foot of Road

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—A local paper says: Nearly all the rumors regarding the Union Pacific are officially denied. The executive committee of the directors held a meeting yesterday and disposed of the routine work that had accumulated during the last two months. The subject of a dividend was not mentioned. President Adams said after the meeting that there was not the slightest foundation for the reports of a forthcoming dividend. Said he: "We have some money in the bank and propose to keep it there. We have not a note outstanding. We are not building a foot of road nor incurring any liabilities. There is no basis for these dividend reports so far as the directors or the Union Pacific officials are concerned. There is no change in the policy of the Union Pacific Company so far as I know and none is contemplated."

NO LEGISLATION PROBABLE

The House and Senate Committees on the Territories Come to no Agreement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Delegate Dubois says that it looks now as though there will be no legislation enacted for the admission of the territories at this session of congress. The conferences of the two houses cannot agree. Neither house nor senate seems to be willing to recede from the position which each has taken.

Senator Platt chairman of the senate committee on territories, said that the senate would not agree to the admission of South Dakota. He also said that if the two houses did not come to an agreement within the next week he did not believe there would be anything done with the territories at this session. The house is not likely to yield to the demands of the senate.

Representative Springer in his report will favor the admission of Arizona, Idaho and Washington but what will be the outcome of this can not at present be predicted with any degree of certainty.

THE CIVIL SERVICE MESSAGE

It Is Not Yet Quite Ready for Transmission—Lyman's Report.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—It is thought that the president's message on civil service reform will be sent to congress in a few days. He has not yet received the report of the civil service commission which he will transmit with the message, but Mr Lyman is putting the finishing touches upon it, and it will soon be ready. Lyman, in his anomalous position, without any associate on the commission, will not make any formal recommendations in his report, but will confine himself to a recital of what has been done during the last year in the way of modifying the rules and extending their applications to new classes of employes. The president's message will take a wider range, and will discuss the events of the past four years bearing on the reform movement.

NATIONAL BUILDERS' CONVENTION.

Resolutions Adopted and Business Transacted at the Final Session

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—At to-day's session of the national builders' convention after a number of papers had been read the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, It has come to the knowledge of this board that strenuous efforts are being made on the part of labor unions in this and other states to have the conspiracy laws repealed, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the delegates to this convention be instructed to urge upon the delegates from other states and cities the necessity of using their influence, personally, to the end that the conspiracy laws of the various states be not tampered with.

Several resolutions reported by the committees were acted upon. One recommending the association to use its influence for the passing of laws, making it a felony for any person or organization to prevent any American youth from learning any trade or handicraft that he may desire was adopted.

A vote of thanks was tendered Congressman Butterworth of Ohio, for his defense of the rights of American citizens.

St Paul was selected as the place for the next annual meeting on January 20 1890 and officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year. Adjourned.

DETERMINED TO HANG HIM

A Murderer Twice Escapes From a Mob—Another Attempt To Be Made

ST LOUIS, Feb. 14.—The body of a railroad brakeman, named James Jenkins, was found yesterday in Waser valley, Miss., with his throat cut. A notorious desperado named William Harris, has been arrested for the murder. As Harris was being removed to the jail he was taken from the officers by a mob, but was retaken later. He was again captured by the mob and was being strung up when Rev. Hinds appeared and after an impassioned appeal for his release from the crowd returned Harris to the caboose. Last night another mob attacked the jail at Hernando, entrance, but found that Harris had been sent to Coffeyville. It is said that the mob will go to Coffeyville to hang Harris.

THE MERCHANT MARINE

General Harrison Waited Upon by a Committee of the American Shipping League

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—General Harrison was waited upon this afternoon by a committee appointed at the recent meeting of the American Shipping and Industrial League at Washington. Without formality they delivered to him the engrossed resolutions adopted by the American Shipping and Industrial League setting forth the great importance of merchant marine and urging congress to adopt immediate measures for building up the marine. General Harrison manifested a lively interest in the question and assured the gentlemen that it would receive his careful and early consideration. The committee returned home to-night.

TO SHOW THEM THE COUNTRY.

A Movement to Give Canadian Legislators a Trip Through the United States

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The details arranged by American merchants and others for an excursion of Canadian legislators through the United States, with the view of showing them our resources and working up the annexation sentiment, are about completed. It is expected that about 400 will accept, and start from Buffalo about May. The intention is to run through the principal cities in the Middle Southern and Western states reaching as far west as Kansas City.

THE "PERSONAL RIGHTS LEAGUE"

An Organization Opposed to the Prohibition Movement

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The organization known as the "Personal Rights League" which was organized last summer and which has, as one of its cardinal objects, resistance to the prohibition movement, which is characterized as a menace to the citizen's rights, has issued an impassioned address to the citizens of the United States, warning them of the danger threatened them in the prohibition movement and calling on all opposed to it to join in the work of fighting them by forming local assemblies under the plan of the parent organization in Chicago.

FIENDISH INCENDIARIES

A Gang of Barn Burners Create a Reign of Terror in Parts of Maryland

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14.—A gang of barn burners, whose identity has not been discovered are creating a reign of terror in Frederick and Carroll counties. Over a dozen barns have been burned, the owners receiving a notice to remove all implements and stock. The incendiaries use a ball of wet phosphorus, with gun powder inside. When the phosphorus dries spontaneous combustion and an explosion follow. No possible reason for their deviltment is known.

How a Syndicate of Republicans Propose to Annex Canada

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—A special from Toronto to the Castle, the Canadian government organ, says: Statements which have reached here through New York say that a syndicate of leading republicans in the United States controls $500,000,000, which it intends to use in an effort to secure Canada's annexation to the United States by a system of bribery in Canada to secure the dissolution of the dominion parliament this year and a consequent general election.

Lord Salisbury Brings Suit for a Divorce—A Sensation Expected

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Star says Lord Salisbury has begun suit for a divorce. His wife, before marriage was known as Dolly Lester. It is stated he names as co-respondents a book maker named Riley, and Ambington who owns a racing stable. Startling revelations are expected.

FROM CHEHALIS

More About the Arrest of Loucks the Bigamist and Forger

CHEHALIS, Feb. 13.

The arrest of G. S. Loucks is still the talk of the town although many are not a bit surprised. The night he was arrested he claimed to have no money and offered his store and goods for sale at a very low rate and was bought out by merchants here. It now transpires that he was in debt largely to Portland wholesale houses and as he was doing a big business must have had considerable coin. Claims now filed against him are as follows: Theo H Liebe & Co $5 84, F H Page & Co $53 41, F H Page $60, Bronheim & Minner $37 75, Sichel & Mayer $128 20, Closset & Devers $85 47, Olds & Summers $57 9, Alisky Baum & Co $302 25, Wadhams & Elliott $520 01, Levy & Spiegel $70 13, Klosterman $166 68, Rosenfield & Co $286 04. Loucks also had a branch store in Centralia owning a half interest, which was not sold and which has been attached by creditors. He paid up the greater part of his indebtedness in Chehalis. Those who have noticed the business done by him say he must have carried off several thousand dollars.

Pandora's Box of Evils

Never contained a worse one than malaria. Extirpate it when it first shows its hydra head. If you don't, it will wind its sinuous length about you and perhaps in the end crush you. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters annihilates and prevents it. So it does dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney ailments, rheumatism and nervousness. You cannot select a prompter tonic and alterative.

ITCHING SKIN DISEASES

I Scratched 28 years. Body covered with scales. Scratched all the time. Suffering endless and without relief. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies. Skin now as clear as a baby's.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty eight years ago, it would have saved me $200 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took .... and .... Sarsaparilla over one year and a half but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases") but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in awhile but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty eight years and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

DENNIS DOWNING
Waterbury, Vt., Jan. 20, 1887.

Every night I scratched until the skin was raw. Body covered with scales like spots of mortar. An awful Spectacle. Entirely cured by the Cuticura Remedies in five weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary cure your CUTICURA REMEDIES performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on and which came off in layers accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw then the next night the scales being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the CUTICURA REMEDIES and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the CUTICURA REMEDIES to all in my vicinity and I know of a great many who have taken them and thank me for the knowledge of them especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

Cuticura Remedies

To cleanse the skin and blood of every blemish and impurity no agency in the world of medicine is so speedy and infallible as the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most agonizing itching and inflammation, clears the skin and scalp of every trace of disease, heals ulcers and sores, removes crusts and scales and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the greatest of skin beautifiers, is indispensable in treating skin diseases and baby humors. It produces the whitest, clearest skin and softest hands, free from pimple, spot or blemish. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements and thus removes the CAUSE. Hence the CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every species of agonizing, humiliating, itching, burning, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, and all humors, blotches, eruptions, sores, scales and crusts, whether simple, scrofulous or contagious, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

DR. LIEBIG'S LOST HEALTH INVIGORATOR
Wonderful GERMAN Invigorator.

THE OLDEST, GREATEST AND BEST REMEDY for the cure of Nervous and Physical Debility, Vital Exhaustion, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, Failing Memory and Relaxed and Enfeebled Condition of the Genito-Urinary Organs.

It speedily cures Impotence, Early Decay, Loss of Vigor, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, and all the real effects of youthful follies and abuse, or EXCESSES OF MATURITY.

It permanently prevents all unnatural losses from the system, as thousands can attest who have used the Remedy in the past quarter of a century which it has been before the public.

It is indeed a wonderful remedy—toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system, and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hyperæsthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with its peculiar special treatment, is the only possible cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the hand of time moved back from age to youth.

Price of either Invigorator, $2. Case of six bottles $10. Sent to any address, covered securely from observation.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homeopathy every form of SPECIAL, PRIVATE or CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body, numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue the unnatural loss causes Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co. from Europe are regular college educated physicians and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness, discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication Prostatorrhea.

FRIDAY, Feb. 15.

Merchandise received or soon to arrive by rail: [illegible] cs boots and shoes, 37 cs dry goods, 25 cs clothing, 16 cs hats and caps, 6 cs domestics, 93 pkgs hardware, 10 bxs tinware, 30 pkgs castings, 2 lots machinery, 6 cs books, 5 cs stationery.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 1180 ctls wheat, 390 bbls flour, 492 ctls oats, 205 sks potatoes, 1670 lbs hides, 11 pks butter, 75 bxs eggs, [illegible] bxs green fruit, 169 head sheep.

WHEAT—The market is evidently an improving one. Chicago recovered itself to-day and closed strong at an advance. There seems to be but little doubt that wheat is held too high in the interior. Foreign markets certainly do not warrant shippers paying such prices as are asked, for export business. The decline in freights is the only valid reason for the advance, and freights are not yet so very cheap. About the only business that can be expected at the present prices will be done by those having handy ships, and thereby being forced to buy. We quote nominal prices, for Eastern Oregon $1 27½@1 30; valley $1 35@1 37½.

FREIGHTS—Are dull and inactive.

EGGS—The market displays some slight strength, owing to increased demand from the Sound cities. The Sound has been supplied during the winter by shippers of Eastern eggs, but they have ceased to import of late. It was reported yesterday that holders of heavy stocks of Eastern eggs were selling them to Chinamen at whatever they could get, the price running from 75c@$1 50 per packer of thirty dozen. We quote 17c.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The stock market was more active and stronger to-day and the result of the day's trading is to leave almost everything fractionally higher than last evening, though outside of grangers, there was little or no feature in the list. A sudden change came over the temper of speculation toward noon, however, when it was announced that the Burlington had signed the agreement, and there was a rush to buy for both sides, on account of which there was a speedy recovery of all the losses of the forenoon and the prices were brought up to higher figures. The improved feeling extended to all portions of the list, although grangers and Atchison, which was bought freely by Boston, monopolized the greater portion of the business done. The first prices were generally firm at slight advance. The close was active and strong at the best prices of the day.

Governments bonds have been dull, but firm.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Produce receipts, past 24 hours include 7100 ctls wheat, 10,000 qr sks flour, 5300 ctls oats, 16,000 sks potatoes, 3500 ctls barley.

Freights—Grain business inactive; no new charters reported. Vessels for outside loading in good demand. The bark Melrose has been taken for coal loading, Seattle to San Francisco. Another vessel, the ship Norris, has been engaged to load lumber from Puget sound to Valparaiso.

Wheat—Only a light business is passing, the sample market is dull and weaker in sympathy with other markets. Shippers being suited in every way bid from $1 40@1 42½ for No. 1 shipping. Options are easier. Sales of No. 1 white buyer year included 300 tons at $1 48¾, 3100 tons at $1 48¾, 1300 tons at $1 48¼, 100 tons at $1 48¾, 400 tons at $1 48⅝; buyer season, $1 45⅛.

Afternoon session: Buyer year opened $1 48¾; closed, $1 47⅞; buyer season, $1 44⅞; seller year, new wheat, $1 38⅞.

Barley—The market is easier and dull. Receipts continue large and stocks on hand are accumulating. No. 1 feed is quoted at 82½@83¾c. Options: Buyer year 94⅞c, buyer season 85⅝c; closed, buyer season 85c, buyer year 93⅞c.

Oats—Dull and weak. Offerings are liberal and buyers hold off, expecting lower prices. Quote milling, $1 15@1 17½; choice feed, $1 10@1 12½; lower grades, $1@1 07½.

Millstuffs—Firm and higher. Bran is quoted at $13 50@14 per ton and middlings at $14@14 50 a ton.

Potatoes—Dull and weak, with no encouraging features to note. Very heavy consignments, principally from the north, come to hand daily and stocks are assuming burdensome proportions. The demand is slow and only for choicer grades; inferior grades are almost entirely neglected. Nominal quotations are: Burbanks, 50@80c; Garnet Chile, 50@60c; Peerless, 40@50c.

Hops—Quiet; unchanged.

Wool—Steady and quiet.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

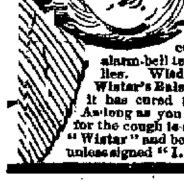
A Cough is Quickly Cured

By taking Mother Cary's (Eucalyptus) Gum Tree Cough Syrup. It does not affect the stomach or bind the bowels. Skidmore & Co. agents, 151 First street, Portland, Or.



"IT'S ONLY A COUGH" has brought many to untimely graves. What is a cough? The lungs, throat or bronchial tubes have been attacked by a cold; nature sounds an alarm-bell telling where the disease lies. Wisdom suggests "TRY Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry;" it has cured thousands of persons. As long as you cough there is danger, for the cough is a Danger Signal. Use "Wistar" and be cured. None genuine unless signed "I. BUTTS" on wrapper.

INSURANCE.

A LARGE SAVING OF COST
In Life Insurance.

THE RETURN PREMIUM SEMI-TONTINE POLICY
—OF THE—
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE
("Mortuary Dividend" it is termed by some companies.)

NOTE THESE THREE FACTS.

First—The conditions are more liberal and the results much greater than in any other company.

Second—The earnings of profits, whether paid in annual cash dividends, as on ordinary Life and Endowment policies, or accumulated to the end of a Tontine term, are twice as large in the Northwestern as in the leading Eastern Tontine companies.

Third—The emphatic testimony of well-known business men who have had experience in several of the leading companies on similar policies proves that for many years the Northwestern has paid larger profits than any other company (in many cases more than double), and is "THE BEST POLICY-HOLDERS' COMPANY" in the United States.

THE LANGFORD-JONES CASE.

Suit Against John F. Miller Dismissed—Enquest Wants Heavy Damages.

Matter Settled—A Doctor's Bill—Boundary Line Disputed—Lee Toy Discharged—Decision Reversed—Police Court—Other Notes.

This celebrated cause comes up again to-day before Judge Shattuck, the occasion being the argument upon the motion of Doctor Jones for a new trial. Eight reasons are set forth for such a proceeding.

The first allegation makes it plain that Judge Williams realizes that Judge Caples was too many for him in selecting the jury, and charges irregular procedure in the impaneling. Secondly, misconduct on the part of the jury is charged. Thirdly, prejudice secured excessive damages. The remaining allegations refer to the special findings and the general verdict as being unsupported by sufficient evidence.

George H. Williams makes affidavit that U. S. Grant Marquam related to him a conversation, in which S. G. Bunting, subsequently one of the jurors, had said that if he should be on the jury, he would give Mrs. Langford all she asked for, as the doctors had butchered the woman. J. W. Haines makes oath to a conversation had with J. M. Coulter, one of the jurors, during the trial, in which he said he had already "won over" one juror. Counter affidavits have been filed by Mrs. Langford's counsel, and the case will be argued to-day.

JUSTICE TUTTLE'S COURT.

The trial of Michael Murray for larceny takes place to-day at 2 P. M. It is claimed the defendant stole a pair of trousers and a coat from Richard Roe, who, on the 9th of February, asked him to take the articles from the hospital, where he had been lying sick for several days, to the Astoria boat. The clothes are worth $4, and when Murray was arrested in North Portland, between First and Second streets, he had them under his arm and evidently knew why he was detained, for he immediately threw them down on the sidewalk and said: "Take them and let me go. I don't want them."

Mrs. Lena Grelle has brought suit against the Portland & Vancouver railway on account of damage to her dress, valued at $100. She claims she bought a ticket to Vancouver and was entitled to ride in a coach, but was put on a flat car and the cinders ruined her garment. The trial will be heard February 21.

WANTS $10,000 DAMAGES.

Louis Enquest yesterday brought suit against the North Pacific Manufacturing Company for $10,000 damages. In his complaint filed in Judge Shattuck's court, Enquest sets forth that the company owns a factory on Twenty-first and [illegible] streets, in which he was employed on the 15th day of October, 1888. On that day he was ordered to steer a buggy from the second story of one of the buildings attached to the factory down a tramway leading to the ground. The rope employed for that purpose was rotten and snapped in twain, allowing the buggy to run violently against him and knock him down a distance of eighteen feet, breaking his right arm in four different places, and otherwise injuring him.

MARK A. MILLER'S WILL.

This document was admitted to probate yesterday in the county court, and letters testamentary issued to E. B. Williams as administrator for it in this county. The executors and wife of Mr. Miller requested Mr. Williams to act in this capacity. The petition of the administrator recites that Mr. Miller died October 27, 1888, leaving, among his other effects a lease of the advertising privileges of the Multnomah street railway, valued at $500. Mr. Miller's original will bequeathed to Mark A. M. Ashley all his advertising business in Portland, but by a subsequent codicil made October 22, 1887, seven months after the will, he withdrew all bequests to Mark A. M. Ashley and Rhoda Ashley.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Judge Tanner disposed of the following cases in the police court yesterday afternoon:

Larry Fagan, simple drunk, fined $2; C. Wilkins, same, $5; John Gilwood alias "Murphy," drunk and disorderly, $10; J. P. Watson, same, fined $20.

Ah John, a wily looking Chinaman, was arraigned on a charge of larceny of a gold watch and chain, the property of J. P. Watson. Through an interpreter the Chinaman denied the theft, and expressed a desire to have the case continued another day to enable him to procure his witnesses. The request was granted, and the case will come up for a hearing in the police court this afternoon.

THE BIG SALMON CASE.

The litigation which grew out of Louis Solomon's shipment of salmon and other goods to this city last month has been satisfactorily settled. The first action was an attachment suit brought by F. M. Warren & Co. against Solomon, who is a canner at Montesano. The goods, which had been shipped to Jacob Davis here, were seized by the sheriff. Davis at once brought action against Sheriff Kelly for the value of his goods. The matter has now been settled by Solomon securing the Warrens through a virtual transfer of his Montesano business to them, he being retained there as manager for them.

DECISION REVERSED.

The Prettyman trespass case was accorded a jury trial yesterday before Judge Stearns, whither it had come on an appeal from Justice Tuttle's decision, by which H. W. Prettyman was fined $20 on a charge of trespassing upon Mr. David Monastes's shooting grounds at Columbia slough. Mr. Prettyman's defense, which he succeeded in establishing to the satisfaction of the jury, was that Monastes had no claim upon the grounds, his lease having expired. Prettyman having showed that he had permission from N. S. Douthitt, the owner of the property, a verdict for defendant was returned by the jury.

ANOTHER CHINAMAN FREE.

Upon motion of the district attorney yesterday the pending action against Lee Toy was dismissed. The charge upon which Lee Toy has been held to answer was assault with intent to kill. His two alleged participants in the affair, which occurred something like a year ago, were Lee Shung and Lee Shung Lung, both of whom were convicted of the offense, and sentenced to a three years' term at Salem. Upon Lee Toy's first trial the jury disagreed, and the prospect for conviction was so slim as to render conviction improbable.

SUIT DISMISSED.

In the United States circuit court yesterday the suit of the United States against John F. Miller was dismissed. Some months ago suit was brought against Mr. Miller to compel him to remove certain fences, inclosing 440 acres of public land in Klamath county, Oregon. Some time last summer Special Agent Brookenbrough was ordered to re-examine the case. An arrangement was effected by which Miller removed the fences referred to, and hence the attorney-general, at the suggestion of the secretary of the interior, ordered the suit to be dismissed.

MINOR NOTES.

Esther Holliday filed a reply yesterday to the answer of Joseph Holliday, which was filed in the probate court November 22, 1888. She renews her claims for more money from the estate and makes a general denial of the demurrers and allegations.

G. Frazer, a native of Norway, yesterday filed his intentions of becoming a citizen of the United States.

ATTACHED FOR A DOCTOR'S BILL.

Edward Diedrich finds himself obliged to go into court to collect his doctor bill against Christof Reimer. The bill is about four years old, and amounts with interest to $106 82. The suit was filed yesterday afternoon, and with John M. O. Lane as surety, a writ of attachment was subsequently taken out upon Reimer's lot in Caruthers' addition.

DISPUTED BOUNDARY LINE.

Action in equity has been commenced before Judge Stearns by John A. Beck against Paul Schulze. Mr. Beck's complaint alleges that the boundary line between his lot No. 9 and Mr. Schulze's lot No. 10 in Mountain View park is in dispute. This property is out on the Cornell road. Mr. Beck wishes to have the boundary line established.

A CONTINUANCE GRANTED.

Low Gill was to have had an examination in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday afternoon on charges of assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons, preferred against him by Tom Lamb, but owing to the absence of material witnesses the court granted a continuance of one day. The case will again be called this afternoon.

TRIPLER'S CASE DISMISSED.

The case against Charles S. Tripler was called up in the state criminal court yesterday by the district attorney, who stated that as a commission on lunacy had declared the prisoner insane, and as he is now an inmate of the Oregon insane asylum, he should move for a dismissal of the case. This disposition was accordingly made.

SHALL THE TAX BE PAID?

The action of Sarah A. Talbot against school district No. 14 will be decided in Judge Stearns's court to-day. Mrs. Talbot seeks to enjoin the district from collecting the tax levied upon her property on the bill. Her argument maintains an irregularity in the meeting which made the levy.

TO-DAY IN THE COURTS.

Judge Shattuck will announce decisions in the cases of McDonald vs. the American Mortgage Company, and En Yung Sung vs. the Wah Sing company.

Judge Stearns will announce a decision in the case of S. A. Talbot vs. School district No. 14.

MINING IN EASTERN OREGON.

What a Gentleman from Colorado Says About It—Good Prospects.

Thomas Lauthern, a miner from Denver, Colorado, was interviewed by a reporter yesterday in regard to the object of his trip to this coast. He said that he came to Oregon to make investigations as to the prospects of there being any extensive operations in the mines along the Cascades. In answer to the question, "Have you been in Eastern Oregon prospecting in your line of business," he said:

"Yes; I have been there twice before, and each trip I am more and more impressed with the posibilities which exist in this great northwest. Especially here in Oregon I find everything to your advantage. The only section of your state that is not adapted to agriculture, seems to be east of the mountains, and that slight drawback is more than overcome by the signs of different kinds of valuable minerals discovered in out-of-the-way places all over that part of the country. It can never equal Colorado in the richness of the deposit and the depth of the veins, but that difficulty is overcome by the easy access one has to the mines which makes them as profitable to be worked as those in my own state. Of course if a mining district is considerably broken up, that is, in deep ravines and high mountains, the expense of transportation of food and different materials is taken from profit derived from the ores. Therefore, even if the Oregon ore is not as valuable as the Colorado ore, the difference does not more than equal the difference in the money paid out for working Colorado shafts over the amount expended in running the Oregon mines.

"A short time ago I was in the eastern part of your state three months, and during that time I visited the most important mines, which can be worked profitably, I know. The Leadville, Aspen and Red mountain mines of Colorado were at one time with no better future before them than these. Our mines are, for the most part, 12,000 above the level of the sea, and seven months out of the year are covered with snow. The expense of sending this product to Pueblo for smelting cannot be estimated with that of your easily accessible districts. There are nowhere offered such favorable opportunities as that possessed by the Oregon Gold Mining Company in their mines on Cracker creek and its tributaries. The coming season will witness a revival in mining never known before, for I know of several projects that will soon develop into something profitable to this country."

MORE OF THE PRECIOUS METAL.

A New and Important Mining Strike on the Santiam.

A few weeks ago a man named Baenwell, working on the Oregon Pacific railroad, made one of the most important discoveries of silver-lead mines yet made in the Santiam district. The vein is twenty feet wide on the surface, carries rich sulphurets and carbonates and is cut right through by the railroad.

The mine is on the north fork of the Santiam, fifteen miles only above the Rock creek postoffice and accessible by railroad, as the track is railed within seven miles from the mine and graded a number of miles beyond. Apart from the richness of the surface ore, the discovery becomes immensely valuable, over all others made in that district, by the Oregon Pacific cutting right through the ledge and thus doing away with the terrible question of transportation. The ore next summer can be sent to San Francisco at $4 a ton, an advantage no other mine in Oregon enjoys.

The location, as stated, is on the north fork of the Santiam, about midway between the Capital mine, owned by Albany men, and the Galena Mining and Smelting Company, controlled by Portland capital. The actual traveling cost of going from this city to the new discovery is only about $10. With the enterprise which has marked the Messrs. McLeran, of this city, in their Santiam operations, they have got a good interest in the new location. The Santiam country is now developed from the Clackamas to the Calapoola rivers, over seventy miles, and Mr. Leigh Harnett, the mining expert, who gives us these particulars, says he will risk his reputation, that in less than two years it will be the Coeur d'Alene of Oregon.

He says, positively, Coeur d'Alene never showed such perfect surface ore as is found in the Wallowa and Santiam districts. As all silver-lead mines are known to improve, in depth, the gentleman's predictions seem likely to be fulfilled once more.

BOUNTY FOR SEALS AND SEA LIONS.

Legislature Will Probably Be Asked to Pass a Law for the Destruction of These Pests.

It is contemplated to ask the legislature to pass a law providing a bounty for the destruction of the seals and sea lions which infest the mouth of the Columbia, and are so destructive to salmon. The legislature of Massachusetts last year passed such a law, although they have no sea lions there, which are much more destructive than seals.

It would seem that there is much more need for such a law here than in Massachusetts, and it would be a good thing if the legislature of Oregon, California and Washington territory would pass laws which would lead to the destruction of the seals and sea lions along their coasts. "It has been proved by government experts," says Mr. J. G. Swan, of Port Townsend, "that the seals and sea lions destroy nearly as many salmon at the mouth of the Columbia as all the canneries combined."

Neither the seals nor sea lions are of any value except the fur seal, the skin of which is an article of luxury for ladies' wear. Of course both hair seals and sea lions furnish some oil, but they are not hunted for this purpose on this coast, and if they were killed off there would be a great many more salmon. A nice little steam launch carrying a Gatling gun or a Hotchkiss gun would soon clean out the rookeries of seals and sea lions along the coast. It is rather late in the season to introduce such a bill now, but perhaps one might be passed if it met with general approval.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT.

Arrangements Completed for the Eighth Annual State Session of the G. A. R.

Department Commander A. E. Borthwick, of the G. A. R., informed a reporter yesterday that arrangements have been completed for the eighth annual encampment of the department of Oregon, which convenes in Grand Army hall, corner of First and Taylor streets, Portland, at 1 P. M., Tuesday, February 26, 1889. The council of administration will meet at the same hall at 10 A. M. of the same day.

The encampment will continue in session for two or three days, and already assurances are given of a large and enthusiastic attendance from the posts of the jurisdiction.

Delegates to the department encampment and members of their families, and also delegates to the convention of the Woman's Relief Corps, will pay full fare on the railroads to Portland, and will be entitled to a return ticket for one-fifth the regular fare, on presentation of certificate to the ticket agents in Portland; certificates entitling the holders to these reduced rates can be obtained from the assistant adjutant general at the encampment.

If posts and corps who wish hotel accommodations will notify Mr. Borthwick, not later than February 20, stating the number likely to come, and by what train or boat to arrive here, and rates desired, provision will be made to receive and accommodate them.

EAST SIDE NEWS NOTES.

An Efficient Minister—Valued Donation—Delegates Chosen—Discharged—A New Impetus.

Under the efficient ministry of Rev. H. V. Rominger, the Congregational church in Holladay's addition is increasing in membership. It is necessary to put in some new pews to accommodate the increased attendance. Now that the railroad bridge is finished and opened, all that portion of the city surrounding the church will settle up very rapidly. Rev. Rominger will deliver his lecture on "Henry Ward Beecher" the last part of next week. To-morrow evening, just before the regular discourse, a short sermon to children will be given.

THE OPENING.

The opening of the new railroad bridge, which took place yesterday, was an event of great importance to the entire East Side, especially so to that portion north of Sullivan's gulch, and all of North and Northeastern Albina. It is an event that has been looked forward to with anxious expectation ever since the railroad bridge was first contemplated. The first thing in the way of improvement that will follow the opening will be the improvement of Holladay avenue out to Sixteenth street. It should be made a compact roadway at least within the space described. The avenue is planked as far eastward as Fifth street, but from there it is in an almost impassable condition. Other street work in the north end of the city will certainly follow, and there is need for street work all through Holladay's and McMillen's additions. Houses are springing up all over both additions, and yet there is scarcely an improved street. The property holders say they have waited for the completion of the bridge, before taking any action looking toward the improvement of streets.

VALUABLE PRESENT.

Every week something is added to the Y. M. C. A. rooms that gives more interest and increases their attractiveness. A set of twelve games complete were placed in the amusement room yesterday by a friend of the association. Books also are constantly being added to the library. The attendance at the rooms is on the increase during the day and at night.

ENLARGED MACHINERY.

The Standard box factory is introducing new and larger machinery. The boiler has already been received and the rest of the machinery will soon arrive. A new engine house was built some time ago. Altogether the improvements will cost about $3000. The very best machinery is being introduced.

ARRESTED—DISCHARGED.

Cass E. Keady, a young man said to be from Salem, was arrested yesterday for selling jewelry on the streets. However, he was discharged. The recorder said the man had $100 on his person when he was arrested and still retained it when he was discharged. There was no sarcasm in his tone.

DELEGATES ELECTED.

At a regular meeting of the East Portland W. C. T. U., Mrs. Mary D. Halsey and Mrs. R. M. Robb were elected as delegates to attend the State Temperance Alliance, to be held at Albany, February 20, 21 and 22.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Five acres were sold in Smith's addition last week for $1800 an acre.

Mrs. Fannie Wills has been very ill with pneumonia for the past week. There are a number of similar cases on the East Side.

E. O. Doud, who went East with his family about two months ago, is expected to arrive home the first of March.

Rev. N. Doan, of Salem, has been in the city for the past few days. He at one time was pastor of the M. E. church in East Portland, and has been shaking hands with his old friends.

Major Hilton commenced his gospel temperance meetings at Stott's hall Thursday evening, at which time and place he delivered one of his lectures to an appreciative audience. Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Major Hilton gave a Bible reading at the hall. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock he holds a Bible reading at W. C. T. U. hall, corner Tenth and J streets, and to-night he gives another lecture at Stott's hall at 7:30 o'clock.

MISS HOWARD AT NEW PARK.

Miss May Howard, the English medium and mind reader, will appear at the New Park theater this (Saturday) evening in an illustrated lecture on spiritualism and mind reading. Miss Howard is highly spoken of by the press. One paper says:

May Howard appeared Wednesday evening, and a good audience greeted her. The exhibition was unique, mysterious, astounding. J. D. Farmer and John King constituted a committee on general inspection, and were completely baffled and dumbfounded. May Howard is a fine-looking, classical-faced lady, winning, suave and faultless in deportment, and captures an audience. The second-sight act by Miss Howard is unsurpassed on the American stage. Professor Williams is an easy talker, and a gentleman of wide acquaintance. All in all, the May Howard entertainment is well worthy of public patronage.

THE PEKIN "GAZETT

All About the Oldest Newspaper World and Its Imperial Edito

The Chinese Censorate and the Empero System—Civil Service in China; How Sc ship Becomes a Passport to Office.

[Copyrighted by Frank G. Carpenter, 1

PEKIN, China, Jan. 5, 1889.—[Speci respondence.]—One of the oldest thi this old capital of China is its news The Pekin Gazette has been published daily for 800 years. It is the oldest paper in the world. It was read by th nese centuries before America wa covered. Its first copies were struc hundreds of years before Gutenberg printing to Europe, and it was in exi 600 years before the Frankfort Gazett first daily newspaper of our civilizatio gan its publication in 1615. Age has, ever, produced no more change upon it upon the Chinese people, and its co are much the same to-day as they were it was founded in the darkness of the ages. Its method of printing is the and it is still set up from movable ty wood and struck off in dark, low roo the long finger-nailed hands of these al eyed Celestials. Still, it is the most cratic paper in the world, and the Ch emperors of the past have been its ed It is the official organ of the Chinese go ment and it is simply a record of officia and reports. It is a crime to add to or tract from it in its republication. The nese government allows no comments its acts, and this is the only organ by w these millions of people, making up than one-fourth of the whole world, know what their ruler is doing.

The Pekin Gazette is edited within the of holies of China—in the forbidden where the emperor lives. The reports all parts of China and its provinces co daily to the imperial editorial desk, and a red pencil his majesty marks the ch ters which indicate whether they are into the waste basket, or are to be paste the bill boards of the palace, from wh the scribes take them down for the the newspaper. The first copies are wri and these beautifully engrossed comm Colonel Denby tells me, a price of $100 a Private printing companies buy these co and republish them. They are set u Pekin and all over China, and are sol many cases almost as cheaply as are American newspapers. Some edition for 30 cents a month, and there are Chi clubs who subscribe together and take turns at reading the various issues o Gazette. John Chinaman does not move electricity, and the Pekin Gazette a mo old seems to suit him quite as well as tha yesterday.

A copy of this great journal lies before It is bound in imperial yellow but it lo more like a cheap patent medicine advert ment in the shape of a long, flabby acco book than a great metropolitan newspa You could make 500 Pekin Gazettes of of the Sunday editions of this paper. not as large as an official envelope, tho its shape is much the same. Three inc wide and six inches long, it contains ab sixteen pages of Chinese characters. Th are about seven lines of words on each pa and these run up and down the paper fr top to bottom, instead of from left to ri across the page as with us. The paper i a tinted white, and between the lines stripes of red. The whole is bound by paper strings within a paper cover of ch yellow, and the beginning of its readi matter is at the back of the book instead o the front. It contains no advertisemen no editorials and no social gossip. T latest Mauchu archery match and sporti news is not reported in it, and you will find the prices of camel's or dog's meat, other market reports within its columns. is not cried upon the streets, and there no newsboys in Pekin. What its circulati is it is impossible to say on account of its ing reprinted by so many firms. It is w known, however, that all China reads it, couriers carry copies of it to the vario provinces, and it is discussed and read the educated people of the cities.

The Pekin Gazette is translated into En lish and the Chinese Times, of Tientsin, a the North China Herald, of Shanghai, devo a part of their space to it daily. From the translations one gets the inside and mo authentic ideas of China, and by reading b tween the lines one sees that the Chine people are the same now as they have bee in the centuries of the past. The doings the emperor are all reported and his go like character appears on every page. the Pekin Gazette of the 19th of Decembe I see it stated that the emperor will go 6:30 A. M. of the morrow to inspect th prayer which is to be recited at the sacrifi to heaven, and that after the burning of th sacrifice he will proceed to the hall of fastin From a copy of last year I see it announce that he will go in person, on the 2d of Janu ary, to a temple and pray for snow, the wa of which is seriously felt, and that simila prays will be offered at the same time other state temples by nobles, princes an other members of the imperial nobility. A extract of a few days later shows that thes prayers were not in vain, for the Gazett states "that the emperor has sent out a de cree expressing his profound gratitude fo the grateful snow which has fallen to th depth of five inches after his prayers." Th same paper states that he proposes to go tha day to offer sacrifices to the god of literature and that he will, a few days later, offer sacri fices to the god of war. From the issue o the 31st of last January, I see that he the conducted the spring sacrifices, and on the 15th of last April a decree is published stat ing that the emperor will go out at 4:45 A M. to visit the temple of agriculture, and t go through the ceremony of plowing. Such extracts are published daily in the Pekin Gazette. They show how the emperor o China is the god, saint and king of hi people.

Other extracts give some idea of his palace life, and some show that though infallible, bo is not immortal. Here is one stating tha twenty roots of gingseng, which is the cureall of China, was sent to the emperor from the governor of Kirin. It gives their weight at nine and one-half ounces, and their value at about $2500. This is considerable over $200 an ounce. Gingseng is worth in America, I am told, about sixty cents a pound, but in China it brings more than its weight in gold. The full story of the emperor's coming marriage may be read in this Gazette, and the condition of his wardrobe may be told by velvets and other things which are forwarded to the palace. It gives the full record of all the receipts of the government, and I see that offices are sometimes sold and that five literary degrees lately went for about $4000.

The charities of the empire are also reported, and the Celestial heart grows as tender sometimes as does that of the Christian. On the 2d of May, 1887, I see that Li Hung Chang has given 15,000,000 pounds of rice and more than $100,000 to the sufferers of a famine in his province, and that on the 14th of June $15,000 were collected for the poor in the Canton province, and that a literary graduate there has lately donated 2300 taels to found a charitable school.

The crime notes of this official paper are numerous, and the horrors of purgatory may be read in the lines fixing the punishment. The sentences where the criminals are to be sliced to death are many. Strangling is common, and decapitation is an easy method of taking off. The bastinado and flogging are found in nearly every issue, and
